Over $40,000,000 Taken From Pay Envelopes in Decision Signed Late Wednesday.

WILL AFFECT 300,000, STARTING JULY FIRST

First Ballots From Shop Workers Almost Unanimous for Strike, Union Announces.

BY ALEXANDER F. JONES, United News Staff Correspondent. Chicago, June 14.—The United States railroad labor board late Wednesday signed a decision cutting between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 from the wages of additional classes of railroad employees, principally the clerks, station employees, express handlers and signalmen.

The new order, which will bring recent wage cuts by the board to $150,000,000 annually, will affect approximately 300,000 men, and will be effective July 1, when the maintenance of way and shop employees also will receive wage reductions.

Voting for Strike. As the order was signed, announcement came from the offices of the railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor here that the first strike ballots had been returned, and that shop employees were voting overwhelmingly for a walkout. The strike ballots were recently sent out by the A. F. of L. railway department leaders, returnable June 30. Later, the time set was advanced to June 25, and it is reported that a strike may be called July 1.

The first ballots received were almost unanimous for a strike, it was stated.

Hits "White Collars." It was also stated that the Brotherhood of Clerks, Express Handlers and Station Employees have received their strike ballots in advance of the labor board's decision, which will probably be made public Friday. This decision will hit the "white collar" forces of the railroad unions.

No decision is immediately in sight for a wage cut for the 85,000 railroad telegraphers, according to the officers of the labor board. This class of employees will not receive a reduction until August, according to best information.

The pending decision is signed by the three railroad members and the three public members. A dissenting opinion by the three labor members will be entered in which the reduction will be criticised as being "unfair and unjustified."

Issue in Maine Primary Monday Is Bachelorhood

Chief Opposition to Present Senator Rests on His Unmarried State.

BY CLAYTON WHITEHILL, United News Staff Correspondent. Washington, June 14.—The primaries in Maine next Monday will demonstrate the relative importance of an entirely new element in politics—bachelorhood.

Senator Frederick Hale, of Maine, will be the test case, for much of the opposition to his re-election is based on the fact that he is unmarried. Inasmuch as the popular "saw" is: "As Maine goes so goes the country," it would seem to behoove those of the three-score bachelor members of congress standing for re-election this fall to watch the Maine primary results closely to determine whether or not married life carries a potent political appeal.

On the house side, Congressman Merrill Moore, of Indiana, might be regarded as the flag-bearer of the bachelors. Unmarried at 66, he recently won the renomination for republican congressman of the seventh district of Indiana, which embraces the city of Indianapolis.

"No Difference." Although the primary result might be sufficient to convince Moore of the eligibility of bachelorhood to political triumph, he has his own personal views on the subject that are independent.

"Being a bachelor and a congressman at the same time makes no difference at all so far as I am concerned," Moore told the United News. "One might expand that thought into infinity, enlarging on the efficiency of single blessedness and all that, but the crux of the matter is that it doesn't make a bit of difference."

"There are plenty of bachelors in congress and maybe some of them look at the matter differently, but I think not. Being a bachelor hasn't made any difference in my career, and I don't see how it would make any difference in any man's career."

HAGUE CONFERENCE ON RUSS AFFAIRS WILL OPEN TODAY

Peace Palace to Witness Two Notable Meetings. Interest in Russ Parley Quiescent.

MEETING WILL BEGIN IN EARLY AFTERNOON

While First Annual Session of Permanent International Court of Justice Convened in Morning.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. The Hague, June 14.—Two notable meetings will be held in The Hague peace palace tomorrow. At 11:30 o'clock the first annual session of the permanent court of international law will open and at 2:30 in the afternoon the conference arranged to consider Russian problems will begin its effort to settle those questions which the Genoa conference abandoned after weeks of unsuccessful wrangling.

Two more dissimilar meetings would be difficult to find under the same roof. The first will be purely judicial, with the solemnity and restrictions which the emine casts about its doings, while the second will be a continuation of the spirited sessions at Genoa, devoted to attempts to untangle vexatious problems, arising from the war.

The Hague is not especially pleased, particularly the officials of the capital, in having the Genoa troubles transferred here and sheltered under the peace palace. P. A. Van Karnebeck, Dutch minister of foreign affairs, will extend a welcome to this conference and then turn it over to the representatives of the various European powers which have sent delegates.

Until the Russians arrive and begin participation in the conference on June 20, interest in it will probably not reach a great height, as the interim will be devoted chiefly to arrangements preliminary to dealing with the bolshevik delegation. Great uncertainty and lack of organization characterize the affairs of the conference, to which Holland apparently does not wish to give great publicity or prominence, as the Dutch did not seek the conference, but merely offer.

LABOR WOULD CURB SUPREME COURT

Union Workers Plan Drive to Give Congress Veto Power on Supreme Court Decisions.

Cincinnati, June 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Organized labor indicated a determination at the American Federation of Labor convention here today that it would start a drive for a constitutional amendment for a congressional veto of supreme court decisions, and for the denial of the power of lower federal courts to set aside a federal law as unconstitutional. This, the delegates were informed, would overcome decisions which labor has regarded as inimical to its interest.

The only formal action, however, was unanimous adoption of a motion creating a special committee to frame a policy, which action was taken after the proposal for the amendment had been made by Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin. Other speakers, most of them leaders in the labor movement, approved the plan as practicable, while the delegates voted approval with applause.

The suggestion of a drive for the amendment came during a program devoted to condemnation of child labor. The address of Senator La Follette centered attacks on the supreme court, which for a second time, recently declared the federal child labor law unconstitutional. In authorizing appointment of the special committee, the delegates voted to vest in it authority to consider all decisions of the last few years which the federation has branded as inimical to organized labor.

Dissenting Note. A dissenting note to a program generally at curtailment of the courts was heard today when Florence Kelley, of the National Consumers'

Are Pretty Legs Proper Display In Rader Choir?

Revivalist Says "No"; Chorus Leader Says "Yes"—Battle Is On.

Chicago, June 14.—Angels may flap their wings in heaven, but that does not mean there are any flappers there, according to Paul Rader, noted evangelist and conductor of revivals.

Furthermore, Rader declares, there aren't going to be any flappers in his 300-voice choir which will sing in his 6,000-seat tabernacle where he expects to stage a big revival in the near future.

But Mrs. C. B. Chadwick, of Beverly Hills, in charge of the chorus, thinks differently. Now there may not be any revival at all, as both are equally emphatic.

While the evangelist was at another revival in Indianapolis, Mrs. Chadwick was picking choristers. Rader returned Wednesday and "fired" twelve of her selections. Mrs. Chadwick protested vigorously.

Nobody ever saw a picture or heard

CONGRESS DELAYS DISGUST HARDING, STATE OBSERVERS

Serious Breach Between White House and Capitol Hill Looming, Believe Many Politicians.

PRESIDENT'S ACTION DELAYS BONUS BILL

Washington, June 14.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Disgust and disappointment over the long wrangling and delay of congress in handling its affairs, President Harding at last has thrown down the gauntlet and has asserted his leadership in a final attempt to expedite consideration of pending legislation.

That is the true sentiment attached to the president's action yesterday in making specific demands upon members of the senate and house, in the opinion of political observers at the capital, tonight.

The chief executive in official statements at the white house and in a letter to republican leaders of the house expressed himself very forcibly on two things. First, threatening to call congress immediately into extraordinary session to especially consider the ship subsidy bill if it went over through any neglect or delay, he demanded prompt consideration of that measure during the present session. Second, he made it known that he was opposed to any political maneuvering in the senate on the part of those who would sidetrack the tariff bill, now under consideration, for immediate passage of the bonus bill.

While this is the whip that was cracked over the heads of congress yesterday, its echo may be heard for some months to come, and with the possibility of interesting results following in its wake.

Results Are Coming.

Already its effect is seen in North Dakota, where Senator McCumber is up for re-election. The North Dakota senator is chairman of the senate finance committee, and as author of the present bonus bill has depended on that measure to win him the re-nomination. The president's action has come pretty near to putting "adjusted compensation" to sleep, for there is small chance of the tariff bill being passed before September, even if then, and in the meantime the North Dakota primary is getting near.

McCumber, it is recalled, blocked a vote on the bonus bill, by virtue of his office as chairman of the finance committee about a year ago when passage of the measure was practically assured. Now, since things are getting hot in his state, he has brought it up again, and in doing so disregarded suggestions of other republican members of the committee in order that he might assume full credit for the bill, it is asserted. With delayed action on it, together with a presidential veto awaiting its passage, his constituents will find it hard to credit him with good intentions.

Senator McCumber's political death-knell was sounded yesterday by the other North Dakota member, Senator Ladd, Non-Partisan league republican, which has a strong organization in the state. In offering an amendment to the bonus bill providing for cash payment and an issue of $2,500,000,000 in treasury notes to take care of them, Senator Ladd described the McCumber measure as a "bread pill" and said that soldiers asking for the meat were given a stone.

But over on the house side of the 35,000 shares of stock.

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL DEBATE TO BEGIN LATE NEXT WEEK

Mondell Says President's Pet Measure Will Come Before House Latter Part of Week.

Confident of Passage Despite Solid Democratic Opposition Backed by Republican "Farm Bloc."

Washington, June 14.—The ship subsidy bill, which President Harding has said must be passed before congress can quit, will be taken up in the house the latter part of next week, according to Representative Mondell, Wyoming, republican leader. Four or five days will be given to general debate, Mondell said.

While admitting that the subsidy bill has the entire democratic side of the house arrayed against it, and likewise opposition of a considerable group of farm bloc republicans, Mondell expressed confidence the measure would pass with a "comfortable" majority.

In an effort to grab off some democratic support, those in charge of the subsidy on the floor, it was intimated, would be extremely liberal in consideration of democratic amendments proposed. But it was made plain that the minute the democrats start what looks like a filibuster the republicans will clamp down the lid and thereafter steer the measure through as strictly partisan.

Committee Called.

The full merchant marine committee of the house will be called together Thursday by Chairman Greene, Massachusetts, to consider the revised subsidy draft, completed and introduced in the house Wednesday by Representative Edmonds, Pennsylvania, chairman of the subcommittee. Greene said he expected the full committee will require two or three days of study on the bill, but should be ready to report it favorably to the house by Saturday.

Chairman Campbell, of Kansas, said the rules committee will meet Monday or Tuesday to adopt a rule, under which the shipping measure will have precedence over other pending legislation.

There is considerable ill-feeling among house republicans over President Harding's flat ultimatum that the subsidy bill must be passed at this session. The president's stand puts many of the republicans, particularly those from the midwest and west, in a difficult position. Some of them are sincerely opposed to the subsidy because they believe a subsidy is wrong in principle, and others are opposed to it because they believe a vote for the bill will hurt them in their campaigns for re-election.

Opponents Subdued. Both these groups have been beaten into almost complete submission by the president's threat of an extraordinary session of congress. No matter how much they are opposed to passing the subsidy before the election, most of the republicans who have been talking at the measure would rather pass a half-dozen such bills than have to stay in Washington for an extra session while their personal political fortunes are hanging in the balance back in their home districts.

While the republicans are nursing their grievance, democratic spokesmen

CHANGE IS ASKED IN TANLAC ORDER

Judge Ellis Sets June 17 As Date for Hearing on Petition of Lynch for Modification.

Counsel for S. A. Lynch filed a petition in Fulton superior court Wednesday asking that the order recently signed in the suit brought by P. C. McDuffie against Lynch be modified. The order enjoined either side from voting the 35,000 shares of International Proprietaries, Inc. stock, now in litigation, or from calling a meeting of the stockholders until after the case had been determined in the courts.

Judge W. D. Ellis set the hearing on the motion for a modification of the original order for next Saturday, June 17.

The petition did not specify the nature of the modification desired but, it was stated by attorneys that this would be brought out at the hearing. The order in the McDuffie case was practically the same as that handed down last Saturday in the case of Satterthwaite against Lynch. Judge Ellis upheld the present status of the case until after the issues are determined by a jury. In its present standing, neither side can vote the 35,000 shares of stock.

Chief Forestry Engineer Boosts Tour of Forests

T. W. Norcross in Atlanta to Plan to Further Good Roads Project.

T. W. Norcross, of Washington, chief engineer of the National Forestry commission, was in Atlanta yesterday in conference with officials of the State Highway commission, relative to proposed roads and trails, and their connections with main thoroughfares, through the national forest commissions in northeast Georgia.

Mr. Norcross called upon the Constitution in connection with the purposes sought by the recent government tour of these reservations organized and conducted by this newspaper.

"I have come south," said the forestry engineer, "for the purpose of going back to a great deal of the territory traversed by The Constitution expedition and mapping out some definite line of procedure whereby we may co-operate with the federal and state road authorities in making these Georgia mountains, the many and scenic spots available to all the people. Roads and trails that will be easily negotiable by automobiles are, of course, necessary."

"Representatives of the department were enthusiastic about the natural attractions in the Nantahala and Cherokee reservations, and I am frank to say the forestry department of the government is really now as anxious as you people of Georgia in seeing this great outdoors opened up so that thousands of people each year may enjoy the health and rest and wholesome recreation they offer."

"I am going from here to Highland, N. C., and then back into the reservations. In the meantime, I shall keep in touch with Mr. McDonald in Washington, and Mr. Holder and Mr. Neel, in Atlanta, in the hope that some definite, constructive step may soon be taken looking to the accomplishment of the great object for which The Constitution organized its expedition. It was a great forward movement on the part of The Constitution, and it has already accomplished much for your mountain sections."

Lawyer Petitions Executive Mercy For Jim Denson

Attorney Cites Escape From Mob and Wreck of Gallows as Act of God.

Macon, Ga., June 14.—(Special.) The last appeal for executive clemency for Jim Denson, Wilkinson county negro, who is sentenced to hang at Irwin Friday of this week is in the hands of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, it became known here tonight. The papers were presented to the governor about a week ago, it is learned, by John R. Cooper, the lawyer who has carried the fight through the courts to the supreme court of the United States.

"I believe the negro is innocent," said Mr. Cooper tonight. "There has been something strange about the case all the way through. The breaks have been in favor of the negro as though the Almighty had some influence in the case. This includes the escape of the negro from the hands of the mob that was bent on lynching him, and now, I understand, that the gallows has been blown down."

Accompanying the lawyer's letter, asking for commutation of sentence was a sworn statement of Sheriff L. P. Payer, an excerpt of which is as follows, as given by the lawyer:

"I am sheriff of Wilkinson county, Georgia, and have been such for the past nine years. I placed him (Denson) under arrest immediately after they had brought him to town. I asked him what on earth did he want to rape that old lady for and he said, 'hose, I did not do it. I am not guilty.' Bond was promised him if he would tell all he knew about it and they promised to let him go back home if he would tell all about it. But he denied to me within a short while after the crime was alleged to have been committed, that he was guilty."

"I have believed Jim Denson to be an innocent negro from that time. I do not believe that he ought to be hanged. But that his sentence should be commuted to life imprisonment in the interest of justice and humanity."

Stet Stanford, counsel who defended Jim Denson at the trial of his case, said that Jim Denson was lynched in the courthouse, that he had no legal trial, and that Judge Payer promised he would not adjourn court until he could file a motion for a new trial. But the court adjourned on the same day and he had no time to file a motion for a new trial. He said that trial was dominated by the mob spirit.

He was bitten on both hands and refuses medical attention.

PRISON FLOGGINGS SEVERELY SCORED BY JUDGE SEARCY

Chairman of Investigating Committee Voices Firm Opposition to Lash as Probe Ends.

CHRISTIE ABSOLVED IN LIPSCOMB DEATH

Attempt to Lay Blame for Atlantan's Death on Former Convict Refuted by Doctor.

BY MARION KENDRICK, Staff Correspondent.

Millersville, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—"I am unalterably opposed to corporal punishment in Georgia prisons. I do not know the opinion of the other judges because we haven't discussed the subject together, but I want my position relative to the flogging of prisoners distinctly understood."

This statement of Judge W. E. H. Searcy, chairman of the committee of superior court judges investigating conditions at the state farm, came as a climax to the final day's hearing late Wednesday afternoon, and later followed with a declaration from Judge Mose Wright that he also was opposed to such punishment.

In view of the recommendations the committee is to make to Governor Thomas W. Hardwick and the consideration it will be given the general assembly, these two statements are considered especially significant. The position of the other judges on this subject is not known.

Christie Absolved. Decidedly one of the most important developments of the day was the attempt by the defense to connect J. Christie, former prisoner whose sensational charges led to the present investigation, with the death of W. R. Lipscomb, another inmate, and his subsequent failure. Several witnesses were introduced who testified that Lipscomb had died early one morning after taking a dose of medicine administered late the night before by either Christie or W. C. Adamson, the inference being that one of the two men who had given an overdose of medicine or had poisoned the invalid.

Dr. Guy V. Compton, prison physician, however, was called to the stand and just before the hearing adjourned and in his testimony he absolved Christie of all guilt. The witness declared that he had prescribed a certain medicine to relieve Lipscomb while in pain, and that he was certain if Adamson, who issues prescriptions when he is absent from the prison hospital, gave Christie any medicine for Lipscomb it was the same kind which he himself had previously given the invalid.

"I am glad because of the notoriety that has come to me as a result of this death and for the sake of Lipscomb's father and brother that they were in suffering," said Dr. Compton. "I am sure that if any medicine was given, it was the same kind which he himself had previously given the invalid."

Denies Giving Medicine. Christie tonight denied that he had given Lipscomb any medicine the night before his death. U. H. Patrick, a prisoner recently sentenced from Cochran, and Dr. C. K. Chap

WILLIAM BARRETT NAMED U. S. JUDGE

Prominent Augusta Man Nominated by President Harding to Succeed the Late Judge Evans.

William H. Barrett, of Augusta, widely known and prominent Georgia attorney, was nominated by President Harding Wednesday for the office of judge of the southern district of Georgia, to succeed the late Judge Beverly D. Evans, according to dispatches received in Atlanta from Washington. The choice of President Harding of Mr. Barrett, who is a democrat, over the list which contained the names of representative republicans and democrats, is indicative of the high regard and esteem in which Mr. Barrett is held. Several republicans, including F. G. Boatright, of Cordele, had been under consideration for several weeks, it was understood.

Recommendations Ignored. Recommendations of the republican state organization of Georgia, under the leadership of J. Lewis Phillips, chairman, pointing to the selection of a member of that party for the judgeship, were completely disregarded by the selection of Mr. Barrett. The

Ocean Bars to Stay On American Ships, Lasker Announces

POLITICS BEHIND PATRONAGE PROBE, SAYS C. C. COYLE

Charges Grand Jury Investigation to "Unscrupulous Politicians and Black and Tan Leaders."

CLARKE GREER CALLED AS WITNESS THURSDAY

Alleged That Georgians Holding Political Plums Have Been Assessed Large Sums.

Silent in Washington.

Washington, June 14.—Department of justice officials refused to discuss in any way today the grand jury investigation which has been begun in Atlanta to complaints of the alleged use of money for obtaining federal appointments. It was indicated that whatever developments were made public would be from Atlanta.

Declaration that the investigation by local federal authorities into the alleged complaint that the republican officeholders throughout the state have been required to pledge certain sums to the support of the party machine in Georgia in order to gain favor with those in charge of patronage distribution is prompted by a number of "unscrupulous politicians" and leaders of the black-and-tan republican faction was made Wednesday night by C. C. Coyle, secretary of the republican state central committee.

"It is merely an effort on the part of unscrupulous politicians to thwart us in our effort to build up a good state organization," he said. "We certainly welcome the investigation, it is to go deep enough."

Will Examine Witnesses. Examination of witnesses by the federal grand jury will be begun early Thursday morning. It was learned on good authority that Clarke Greer, of Augusta, known as a member of the Johnson-Davis faction, is to be the first witness.

Clint W. Hager, district attorney, stated Wednesday that the grand jury investigation is to be made on instruction from the department of justice at Washington, where the alleged complaints concerning the collection of money from federal officials in Georgia have been filed.

In the absence of J. L. Phillips, republican state chairman, Secretary Coyle was questioned with reference to the probe. He characterized the investigation as a "political row before the grand jury."

From authoritative sources it was learned Wednesday that the grand jury will be offered testimony to the effect that under the collection scheme maintained by the state republican organization more than $200,000 would be collected each year from republicans in the federal service in Georgia.

"No Pecuniary Gain."

It is alleged that the funds were sought for the Republican Educational society, a corporation established for the purpose of teaching the people of Georgia, according to Secretary Coyle, the need for two white parties in the state, and has no pecuniary gain as its motive.

"The funds do not come to state headquarters at all," he said. "They are handled entirely by the society, of which C. W. Parker, of Elberton, is said to have been the official collector. One feature to be aired before the jury, it is said, will be a letter sent

Despite Scathing Criticism by Busch, Ship Board Liners Will Continue to Sell Liquors.

SECOND BUSCH LETTER GIVEN OUT WEDNESDAY

Brewer Takes the Government to Task for What, It Alleges, Is Violation of U. S. Constitution.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, June 14.—Sale of liquor on shipping board vessels at sea will be continued, Chairman Lasker reiterated tonight, until a separate decision has been rendered holding such practice illegal under the prohibition laws or until he "has been convinced of its illegality."

Mr. Lasker maintained throughout the day the position taken by him in his letter to Adolphus Busch, III, vice president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery company. It is, despite indication that it would be made the subject of attack in congress and by dry organizations.

Officials of the department of justice refused to comment on the situation, but attention was called to an opinion on the matter rendered by former acting Attorney General Frierson in 1920. Mr. Frierson held that the national prohibition act was effective upon ships flying the American flag wherever they might be.

Lasker's Authority. According to high department officials, a decision of an attorney-general remains the official interpretation of a law until it has been revoked by court decision or by a succeeding opinion. Furthermore, they added, such opinion always stands unless request for a review comes from the same department or agency which originally requested the ruling.

Mr. Lasker's stand as to liquor sales on board American vessels was taken, he informed Mr. Busch, on the authority of an opinion rendered by General Counsel Schlesinger of the shipping board.

The chairman conferred today with Attorney-General Daugherty and while there gave him copies of the correspondence with the St. Louis brewer. The matter of liquor sales at sea was not the primary purpose of the conference. Mr. Lasker indicated, but it was brought up incidentally.

Quite Satisfied. Refusing to discuss his talk with Mr. Daugherty, Chairman Lasker declared he would not ask the department for a new opinion, being entirely satisfied with that rendered by Mr. Schlesinger. He added that he would not answer further letters on the subject of liquor-selling.

While there was no indication tonight that there would be any move by an executive department in the matter, at the capital, the Busch-Lasker correspondence provoked considerable discussion among prohibition leaders, coming as it did on the heels of the attack yesterday on the board by Representative Gallivan, democrat, Massachusetts, for permitting the sale of liquor on American ships.

gave legislative leaders their first knowledge of liquor being at sea. However, during recent months, many of them have received wine lists from American vessels mailed in all parts of the world, with facetious comments.

Upshaw in Arms.

Representative Upshaw, democrat, Georgia, was the first to announce publicly today that he would offer an amendment to the ship subsidy bill providing that no part of the federal subsidy fund should be used by steamship lines on whose ships liquor is sold. A leading western representative had announced that he would offer the same amendment, and friends of the bill said it seemed certain the issue would have to be met unless the bill was reported by the rules committee with a stipulation that none but merchant marine committee amendments would be considered.

There was talk tonight that such an amendment would be put squarely before the committee probably tomorrow, although its defeat there was predicted.

One ardent prohibitionist went so far as to express the opinion that "by next summer, a law will be enacted prohibiting the landing in the United States of foreign ships on which liquor selling is permitted."

More than a year ago as in the last congress, steamship officials appeared before house committees in support of the Edmunds bill providing that nothing in the Volstead act shall prevent the carrying or sale of liquors on passenger vessels of either American or foreign registry. There was the further provision, however, that ship stocks of liquor should be sealed and not sold within the three-mile limit.

After steamship officials had testified that they could not compete with foreign companies unless the law was modified, the bill was put away, prohibitionists asserting it would be overwhelmingly defeated if presented to the house.

SECOND LETTER FROM BUSCH.

St. Louis, June 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—The statement that A. D. Lasker, chairman of the United States shipping board, "misunderstood and therefore assailed" the motive of Adolphus Busch, III., and his father, August A. Busch, president of the Anheuser Busch, Inc., in writing to President Harding regarding the sale of liquor aboard the steamship George Washington, a shipping board vessel, and the violation of the prohibition act is embodied in a second letter of Adolphus Busch, III., given to the Associated Press tonight in reply to the letter of Chairman Lasker, given out in Washington today.

The letter, dated today, from this city says: "I have read in today's St. Louis papers what purports to be a letter from you addressed to me, from Washington, D. C., under date of yesterday, 13th inst. I have no doubt the letter will reach me in due course, and I am taking it for granted the newspapers have correctly reproduced the letter. It refers to my letter of the 8th, inst., addressed to the president, complaining of violation of the Volstead law by the United States shipping board, a department of the United States government.

Admits "Selfishness."

"Inasmuch as you again resort to the argument that our passenger ships cannot get business unless they do the thing which we charge is being unlawfully done, I am bound to consider that you admit the truth of the charge.

"On our behalf, I admit the correctness of your charge that we are selfish in that we seek to agitate have the lawful right to manufacture it. It is this selfishness, let it go at that. We, in that respect at least, have the shipping board as an example. The shipping board desires to maintain the value as a going business of the government investment merchant ships; while we are selfish in hoping that our investment of many millions may be saved through a restoration of the lawful right to make wholesome beer.

"You have misunderstood, and therefore assailed our motive in writing the president of the 8th inst., as we did. Our motive is to remind the chief executive that the cumulative violations of the Volstead law on land and sea destroy the investment of law-abiding manufacturers who might otherwise preserve their investment, and at the same time endeavor, as we are endeavoring, to have restored by an amendment to the law, the right to make beer.

Referred to Files.

"Respecting your entirely irrelevant intimation that we are German sympathizers, we remind you that all the facts and most of the falsehoods on that point were thoroughly dealt with and disposed of finally by the federal government during the war. See the files.

"You flatter me by your suggestion that I have so much power as to be able to affect adversely, the American, and promote the German merchant marine. Whether this is a compliment or an accusation, its obvious absurdity must constitute its own answer.

"We seek no controversy with you on your board. We reiterate the charge that your board, without taking the trouble to get the law amended, violates for profit a law which we have always observed and which we are trying to have amended because it cannot be enforced.

Temperature High.

"You suggest that we do not come to the base of public opinion with clean hands. It has cost us millions of dollars to keep them clean, and we remind you that we have in this correspondence repeated our demand for a congressional investigation.

"The temperature in my office is well above 90, and the law prohibits me from making here in America, a glass of whole beer such as my grandfather, Adolphus Busch, made famous over the world as an American product. Yet, as I write, I contemplate the shipping board approving vouchers for the disbursement of American government money from the treasury in payment for German and British beers and wines to be sold by the government in Washington, D. C., prospect does not, I assure you, tend to lower the temperature."

BUSCH LETTER GIVES FACTS.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—A letter dated today that the United States shipping board is "incomparably the biggest bootlegger in the world," written by August A. Busch, president of Anheuser Busch Inc., while en route to Europe aboard the steamship George Washington, and which has been forwarded to President Harding was made public today, together with letters by Adolphus Busch, III., to his son and by Anheuser Busch, Inc., addressed to members of congress requesting investigation into the enforcement department of the government regarding the prohibition act.

The letter of August A. Busch, addressed to his associates, says in part:

"We are now approaching the coast of France. As this vessel is operated by the United States shipping board, I was amazed to learn that the shipping board vessels are the wettest on the ocean.

Liquor Guaranteed.

"I learn that passage on these ships has been sold with a money back guarantee that bars for the sale of intoxicating liquors will be thrown open as they pass out the three-mile coast line.

"This makes the United States the biggest bootlegger in the world.

"As manufacturers of legal products we have been forced for more than two years to meet unfair and unlawful competition in the United States. For the United States to set aside its constitution and laws in the operation of its own business enterprises, increases our difficulties, because it encourages violators of the law to greater activity.

"I understand that the shipping board has brought to the notice of high officials of the government the fact that it could not compete on the high seas with the ships of other nations and obey the Volstead act.

Shows Real Sentiment.

"We should submit to the president that the government's toleration of the violation of the law by the shipping board is proof that prohibition laws as now written are either impractical and non-enforceable or are being disregarded deliberately.

"The fact that the United States would not permit passage upon ships of the United States so long as the Volstead act was operative upon these ships gives us a real sentiment of the American people."

The letter of Adolphus Busch, III., says in part:

"I am transmitting herewith a letter we have just received from my father. Kindly note that he expresses astonishment that the prohibition laws of the United States are violated openly upon steamships owned by the United States. A copy of the wine list enumerating intoxicating liquors is enclosed for your information.

Violation of Laws.

"Because it is axiomatic that American ships wherever they float are American territory and under the jurisdiction of United States laws, the government's liquor policy with respect to the ships of the United States shipping board constitutes a violation of the constitution and the laws of the United States in at least three important respects:

"As American sovereignty follows the flag, it is a violation of the constitution and the enforcement act for the government to sell intoxicating liquors or permit its sale on board any ship of the United States.

"It is a violation of the constitution and law for the government to permit ships to transport intoxicating liquor within the three-mile coast line.

"It is a violation of the law for a government ship to possess intoxicating liquor within the three-mile coast line.

Liquor Advertised.

"We are reliably informed that the advertisement of the United States, published in European newspapers, 'announced' choice wines and liquors on ships of the United States.

"We are also reliably informed that during all the time the government has been violating the prohibition laws, it has had public figures touring the country for the special purpose of preaching respect for the prohibition laws to the American people.

"We are enclosing what appears to be a government inspired newspaper editorial making a plea for the continued violation of the prohibition laws on board United States ships.

"The government's disregard of the prohibition law and its policy of inspiring editorial support of the exemption of one of its business enterprises from the operation of the law on the one hand and its feeble attempt to enforce it on the other hand appears most inconsistent."

Asks Congress Probe.

The letter of Anheuser Busch, Inc., invites congress' attention to wine lists of the shipping board steamers and requests a congressional inquiry into enforcement of the prohibition act. The letter says in part:

"We have repeatedly brought to the notice of the congress of the United States and the administrative officials the fact that the prohibition law is so loosely enforced as to invite its violation and that under these conditions the manufacturers of lawful products are being driven out of business.

"When the government of the United States permits a department to violate a prohibition law, it helps to create a condition which aggravates the difficulties of those manufacturers."

The letter further says that the government in violating its own law sets an example of "hypocrisy, unparalleled in the history of the republic."

LASKER CONFIRMS SALE OF LIQUOR.

Washington, June 14.—The shipping board today has announced that the Volstead act nor the eighteenth amendment apply to American ships outside the three-mile limit. Chairman Lasker declared today in a letter to Adolphus Busch, III., vice president of the Anheuser Busch Brewing company, of St. Louis. Confirming reports that alcoholic drinks were being served on American ships at sea, Mr. Lasker asserted that the shipping board had approved this custom.

"The shipping board has permitted and will continue to permit serving liquor on its ships," he continued. "So long as foreign flag ships are allowed to enter and depart from our shores exercising that privilege."

Mr. Lasker's letter was in reply to a communication addressed to him by Mr. Busch to President Harding with reference to alcoholic drinks being regularly served on shipping board vessels at sea. The matter had been referred to him.

Approved by Counsel.

While it was true, Mr. Lasker said, that an assistant attorney-general "in the prior administration," had held that the prohibition laws were effective on American shipping whenever operated, the present general counsel of the shipping board, his assistants and the chairman himself were convinced that such an opinion was not soundly based and had approved the inclusion of wine lists as regular equipment of boats operated under the board's supervision, for use however, only beyond the jurisdictional coastal line.

"The prior chairman (of the board) had issued orders that the Palmer opinion must be respected," Mr. Lasker said, "but it is true that in fact during the Wilson administration in so far as the shipping board operated passenger ships, liquor was served."

"Having thus disposed of your contention that we are breaking the law let me refer to the practical side of what is involved."

Argues "Practical Side."

"There is a vital bill pending before congress now providing aid for American shipping, which if enacted into law stamps the belief of America as expressed through its legislative body, that we have reached that point in our national life where an established merchant marine is essential for our prosperity and protection in peace and war.

"No type of ship is so essential for either of these major purposes as the fast passenger and combination passenger and cargo ship. Great Britain has 250, whereas we have but 50; when speed and age are considered, the factor is even greater in favor of Great Britain.

"So long as Great Britain, Japan, France, Germany and other maritime nations continue to serve liquors to American passengers, I am ashamed to state that my experience leads me to believe there is a sufficient number of Americans without proper pride in their own flag who would divert their trade to the foreign flags.

Determining Factor.

"I do not believe I speak inadvisably when I state that so long as foreign ships can enter America serving liquor the lack of that privilege might be the very determining factor in the life or death of the American merchant marine.

"If the sale of liquor be prohibited on all boats entering or departing from American ports, there is no voice in the shipping board that would be raised in protest."

Mr. Busch attached to his letter the copy of an editorial printed in The Chicago Tribune, May 3, 1922. Following a visit to the editorial offices by an official of the United States shipping board.

Declaring there was an intimation that the editorial had been "inspired by that visit," Mr. Lasker said:

Visited Newspaper.

"I was the official who visited the Tribune on May 3, and I wish to record my emphatic denial that I in any way knew before or at the time of my visit the views of the editors of the Tribune on this subject. Your letters and the letter from your father have on the face been written entirely with a view to their effect on the public when published, and in an attempt to insure their publication I am informed that you have sent printed copies of your letters to the press of America."

"Wherefore, my reply to you is not merely intended for you, but is also written with a view to public rejoinder.

"I believe you to be thoroughly selfish and that you are acting in the hope of creating a public revolt against prohibition so that you may again revive the sale of your liquors, utterly regardless of how you might hurt the American merchant marine."

Kaiser's Friend.

"It is, of course, notorious that the Adolphus Busch, who founded your brewery, was possibly the Kaiser's closest friend in America, and that your family for many years has maintained a castle in Germany; your action in any event will not displease your German friends whose greatest hope of a restored German marine is in a hurt to America's new-born merchant marine."

"I refer to these extraneous facts not in resentment, but that it may be made clear that in my opinion you do not come before the bar of public opinion with clean hands."

Mr. Lasker made public at the same time the text of an opinion just rendered to him by Elmer Schlesinger, general counsel of the shipping board, upholding anew the legality of the selling of liquor on American ships at sea.

COAL MEET TALK TO HOOVER TODAY

To Discuss Means of Compelling Recalcitrant Dealers to Comply in Price Restraint Plans.

Washington, June 14.—Representatives of the producing and distributing branches of the coal industry are to meet with Secretary Hoover tomorrow to consider steps for bringing into line operators and dealers who have failed to comply with the administration's plan for voluntary price restraint during the strike.

Advancing prices of anthracite coal are also to be considered at the conference which is to be attended by the special committee appointed from the National Coal association at the recent conference of operators with the commerce secretary and representatives of wholesale and retail coal dealers.

"The majority of operators and dealers," Mr. Hoover said, "are holding faithfully to the voluntary plan, but some districts and some individual operators and dealers in other districts having been encouraged by the criticism of the plan to believe it may be broken down and that the alternative legislation will give them great delays are making every day they can in the meantime. The result shows in the change of average prices of spot coal from $3.07 on May 22, before action by the administration, to $3.08 on June 5, after the plan was put out; but due to those who have not complied, average prices have risen to $3.44 on June 12. Their action is exceedingly unfair to the majority who wish to maintain the reputation of the industry."

"The difficulties arose first in respect to certain districts which have refused to accept the formula proposed at the meeting of May 31. Prices in those districts which have refused to accept the plan have advanced as much as $5 per ton."

"Second, in respect to the measures that are taken with reference to operators who are charging the maximum set for additions of costs in various mines although their increases in cost do not warrant the use of the maximums."

"Third, in respect to complaints of wholesalers that some operators are charging in their prices the selling costs when dealing with the consumer, thus increasing the prices by between 15 and 25 cents per ton."

"Fourth, in respect to the action of some anthracite holders in advancing prices over the April 1 price scales."

JURY MUST TRY DOUGHERTY CASE, SAYS HIGH COURT

The Georgia supreme court Wednesday handed down a decision in which it holds that the suit of D. O. Dougherty against the Central Bank and Trust company, in which the plaintiff seeks payment of $1,300 in Liberty bonds, which he alleges were removed from a safety deposit box by an unauthorized person, must be tried before a jury.

The higher court in reversing the decision of Judge John T. Pendleton of Fulton superior court, who had previously returned a verdict for the bank, rules that there was conflicting testimony in the trial of the case and a jury should have passed on its merits. Dougherty claims that his former wife, Mrs. W. R. Dougherty, from whom he recently obtained a divorce, went to the bank while he was in France with the Y. M. C. A. during the world war, and secured the bonds involved in the case. He alleges that the Liberty bonds were removed from the bank by "one Vincent," whom he claims was the soldier in the case. He contends that the bonds should not have been delivered to Vincent, even though the key to the box had been entrusted to him by Mrs. Dougherty.

In the records of the case it is recited that Dougherty entrusted to his wife the keys to his safety deposit box together with a power of attorney giving her access to the box. He contends that the Liberty bonds were removed from the bank by "one Vincent," whom he claims was the soldier in the case. He contends that the bonds should not have been delivered to Vincent, even though the key to the box had been entrusted to him by Mrs. Dougherty.

Justice of the Peace

Race at Decatur Gets Liveliest; Three Filed

Decatur, Ga., June 14.—(Special.) John R. Maddox and V. S. Morgan, both of Decatur, have formally announced their respective candidacies for justice of the peace of the 531st militia district, of which this city is the official center.

C. H. Lively declared his intention several days ago to run for the office, and each of the three aspirants are making a vigorous canvass of the voters in his own behalf, and the campaign is creating considerable interest.

The governor has called a special election for June 24 to fill the vacancy on the local justice of the peace bench caused by the recent resignation of Judge C. L. Pattillo, who has held the post for about five years, but who has resigned on account of ill health.

Mr. Lively was formerly a deputy United States marshal under former Marshal Howard Thompson; Mr. Maddox is a local attorney, and Mr. Morgan was formerly clerk to the DeKalb commissioner of roads and revenue during the incumbency of R. J. Freeman in that office.

JUDGE W. H. BARRETT.

The appointment by President Harding of Judge William H. Barrett, of Augusta, to the federal judgeship in the Southern district of Georgia, made vacant by the recent death of Judge Beverly D. Evans, is not only a deserved tribute to one of the ablest lawyers in the state, and to a man whose personal and professional record has always been beyond reproach, but it is a broad-minded statesmanlike recognition of the fact that the federal bench should be divorced from the spoils system in party politics and placed under the high level of merit and service to the government and the people alike, without the embarrassments of organized political factions.

Judge Barrett is a democrat, and he did not compromise in faith or play with new political ideas in having his name presented to the attorney general for appointment to this high office. Among the friends who were active in his behalf were a number of leading republicans in the southern district,
and they were unselfishly actuated only by the superb qualifications of the man, and his general acceptability by all the people, regardless of party or faction.

President Taft-appointed a number of democrats to federal judgeships; and two of the south's ablest democratic jurists to the United States supreme court—one of them, Lamar, a Georgian. On the other hand President Wilson appointed republicans to high judicial positions.

It is a gratifying sign of the continued political independence of government jurisprudence that President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty have followed the example of their predecessors and absolved the federal bench
from purely political control.

In Judge Barrett the southern district of Georgia will have a worthy successor to such able and fearless and fair jurists as the late Emory Speer and the late Beverly Evans. He is yet a young man, only 54, and he will go upon the bench with the experience of 30 years of active and extensive practice in the state and federal courts and the United States supreme court. He has never held office before except as city judge when he was quite a young practitioner. He has never been active in party affairs, although always taking the keen private interest of a citizen who stands for law and order and the best ideals in civic affairs. He has been active in educational work and for many years was chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Georgia College of Medicine, which is a branch of the state university.

While a man of affairs he has never sacrificed his profession for the usually more alluring pursuits of commercialism. He has loved the law, and loved the practice of it, just as he has loved justice, and the attainment of justice by fair and equitable measures.

Consideration, moderation, gentleness, and yet the vigorous defense of every righteous cause, have been his characteristics as a lawyer, as a citizen and as a husband and father. Particularly is he temperamentally fitted for the trust imposed in him.

There were a number of able and worthy men of both political parties who applied for this position.
It was impossible to appoint more than one of the score or more of good lawyers and good citizens who aspired for the judgeship; and while there must be disappointments to many who would have served just as efficiently and just as fairly perhaps, as Judge Barrett, the fact remains that in the selection of the Augusta jurist the government and the people are both to be congratulated.

ANTI-TICK PROGRESS.

That the Texas fever cattle tick is fast disappearing in all parts of Georgia, that it has been completely eradicated in many sections of the state, and that the grade and quality of cattle produced have improved in ratio with the disappearance of the deadly pest, are facts which are as inspirational as they are gratifying to all who are interested in Georgia and her industrial progress.

Everywhere throughout the southern part of the state cattle of the ranga, "piney woods" scrub type are being replaced by better stock
—a development which would be impracticable under tick conditions for the reason that no farmer could afford to produce pure-blooded cattle for ticks to feed upon—and even the diminishing numbers of the native inferior cattle are improving in quality and in market value as they are becoming more and more relieved from the devastating influence of the tick parasite.

Illustrative of the manner in which Georgia is now "cashing in"
on its investment in tick eradication activities during the last half-dozen years, the Swainsboro Forest Blade, published in Emanuel county, said in a recent editorial:

"To any person traveling over Emanuel county today the greatly improved condition of the cattle is quickly obvious. It has been stated by those familiar with it that the condition of our cattle as a whole will show 50 per cent improvement over their condition at this time of any previous year. This fact is attributed solely to the tick eradication work that has been carried out so successfully in our county, and those who are not much in favor of this work are convinced that tick eradication is one of the greatest works ever undertaken by our department of agriculture and has meant the saving of millions of dollars to the people of Georgia. One Emanuel county farmer who owns over 200 head of cattle states that he considers his herd worth twice as much since they have been freed of ticks, as they were much before and than ever before and require less feed when the ranges are not open."

This is only typical of the experience of every county in Georgia or in any other state which has suffered from the tick menace and in which the work of eradication has progressed to a stage producing results in the form of relief from the worst blight from which the cattle industry in any community ever has suffered.

And the fact that the work of eradication has been prosecuted in Georgia in the face of the most determined and discouraging opposition on the part of a minority element, composed of non-progressive and reactionary men who have resorted to dynamite and even to murder in their efforts to block progress, is all the more to the credit of those engaged in it.

It is to be hoped that the work will continue until every foot of territory south of the Mason and Dixon line is free from the cattle tick.

IT PAYS THEM ALL.

In its unusually interesting daily talks on effective advertising methods as applied, not only to the daily business of the country, but to the advancement of its educational institutions, the Philadelphia Record says:

"Within a week a college will receive a gift of $50,000, made by a citizen of eastern Pennsylvania to whom its needs and opportunities for service came to notice through advertising. In another instance, within a personal observation, $20,000 came to an educational institution of standing and reputation through a newspaper advertisement.

"Advertising is known to be effective and its usefulness increases as it is done under skillful direction and through such newspapers as have shown results."

Those are indeed notable instances of the power of the printed word effectively presented, and many others could be added to them in the beneficial results of advertising to other colleges, universities and religious institutions everywhere.

The churches realize the importance of advertising and successfully employ it to awaken outside interest in the good work they are doing; they are represented now in all the standard newspapers, and their increasing visitor-attendance,
due, in a measure, to such representation, frequently results in permanent membership.

Judicious advertising wins recruits for every worthy cause.

Rightly placed—in the dependable daily newspaper—it is the force which makes things move.

It pays them all.

Another good thing about radio sermons is that you don't have to feel in your pockets for a nickel
just before they begin.

in smuggling. In the old days there was risk enough to make it a sporting proposition.

next world, the better we like this

Summer's Song.
I.
Hammock 'neath
the shade
of pines, Bees in honey
suckle vines;
Birds in dreamy
life and melody
Cattle-bells o'er meadows ring
in—Let the weather roll along Listen! to the summer's song.

II.
In the wondrous weather there Richer than a millionaire Watchin' white clouds sail the blue Ocean of the ether through Buildin' castles high and strong.
Founded on a summer-song.

III.
Life of ease and calm content,
It was for a dreamer meant;
Trouble is, when all is said
Dreams bring not life's daily bread;
Life and melody weather singin'
At a table spread with dreams.

"Certainly there's gold in the land,"
says the Lowly City Independent,
but to get it you must scratch it out with hens, root it out with hogs

"Poetry" Made Easy.
Our friend, Tannoy J. Duff, in his Kansas City Star column, points out the easy road to rhyme. "For example," he says, "take the name,
'Wyoming.' What rhyme or rhymes does it suggest? 'Coming,' 'ringing,'
'coming,' 'homing,' 'a so forth.
Which of them shall we use, and what discard? Well, now, let's see!
—here was a young man in Wyoming—' That is the easy road, but obviously it will not do in this instance. The exigencies of the case demand that there be rhyming, and perhaps rhyming, in the gloaming, or something of the sort, and that necessitates a different character, or—ah-yes!
—two of them. Now we have it!"

"A loving young pair in Wyoming Went romping one eve in the gloaming.
The maiden was fair
With soft curling hair
Which when she got home needed combing."

"Here's for Holiday!"

Spreading fields of clover
Stretching far away,
Doves a-flying over—
Here's for holiday!

II.
Meadow-brooks a-singing
On their rippling way, Dreams and visions clinging—Here's for holiday!

III.
Joys all may discover
In woodlands green and gray;
Here's a woodland lover,
And here's for holiday!

"Moses," says Colonel George Bailey,
"in the light of present day doings,
was the most unpopular paragraph nally cheered him with this genera-

Who Are Greatest Women
(From The Washington Star.)
"Who were the twenty-five greatest women of the world?"
This question forms the basis of a contest, with a $100 gold purse for the winner, among the pupils of the woman's universal alliance, formerly the international foundation, according to an announcement made today.
The contest is preliminary to the selection of the names of the greatest women of each state in the union and of each civilized country, who will have their names inscribed on tablets in the woman's hall of fame at the memorial building to be erected by the woman's alliance in Washington. An international committee on historical research is being appointed to select the names after the most careful inquiry into the merits of the women proposed for the honor. The committee is to have a personnel of 100
leading educators, historians and heads of patriotic organizations, including both men and women from each state and country from which entries have been made.

South a Literary Desert?
"No," Says Atlanta Man

Editor Constitution: In your Sunday issue appeared an excerpt from The Baltimore Evening Sun written by H. L. Mencken.

Mr. Mencken states that that cock-sureness that characterizes most of the comments made by our literary critics on things southern in origin and sentiment, that the south is a literary desert and has produced little of merit since Poe and that with the exception of John McClure, of New Orleans, La., possesses no one capable of producing anything worth while.

I think Mr. Mencken must have been asleep when he made this broad statement. In my humble opinion
there is nothing finer than Frank L.
Stanton's "St. Michael's Bells," and Robert Loveman's "Rain Song," has a national reputation. It is necessary to do a great deal of south producing work of real merit could be extended indefinitely, not only in verse
but in all other branches of literature.

Congressional Repartee

Taken From 'The Record'

Constitution Bureau.
Washington, June 14.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—On being accused of killing time during discussion of the Payne-Aldrich bill, Mr. Watson, of Georgia—Is it true, as has been rumored, that the finance committee heard the same manufactured interchanges again and again and thus killed time?
Mr. Watson, of Indiana—It is not true.

Mr. Watson, of Georgia—I would not have asked the question if I had not been told so by the leader on the other side.

Mr. Watson, of Indiana—Well, we are all leaders over here, and, of course, I do not know what to leader
the senator from Georgia refers.

Mr. Watson, of Georgia—That is the reason why they do not lead.

Mr. Watson, of Indiana—Perhaps we do not lead as democrats are led,
but we get on in mass formation and we always run over the other fellows
when the day of battle comes.

Mr. Watson, of Georgia—They have not been doing it very much of late.

Mr. Watson, of Indiana—A majority of 7,000,000 does fairly well.

Mr. Heflin—Mr. President, the senator from Georgia is now trying to run over the people by this bill, I presume.

Mr. Harrison—Will not the senator read to us what he said in advocacy of the Payne-Aldrich bill?

Mr. Watson, of Indiana—Yes, and what I said came true. It was all fulfilled.

Mr. Harrison—It came true to the extent that you have killed time.

Mr. Watson, of Indiana—Not by reason of the passage of the Payne-Aldrich bill, but all effort to delay things led to the overthrow of the republican party in 1912, temporarily.
Unfortunately, I was there when it happened, and I know that the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill did not have anything to do with it.

While in Atlantic City I saw one of the best-known writers of underworld life and a man who is personally acquainted with hundreds of professional crooks. "The boardwalk is the place," he said, "where crooks come for a day or so to mingle with respectability. I met ten celebrated criminals in an hour's stroll this morning. There is an unwritten agreement that they will not play their art while here."

Over in Bryant park a legless man sits in the shade with his blacking box in front of him. His is the philosophy of cheerfulness. He smiles at passers-by and calls out playfully to the children. "Do you want to be like me?" he asks. "Well, you had better won a high-school running race, beginning further down town and ending in the middle of the park."

Down along the water front the docks are miniature margins of relief from the heat for the steam dwellers.
The women sit along the piers in wrappers and the children play hopscotch on the plank. There is a quiet beauty about the river with its flashing crystal lights and ebony shadows. About the docks the hol-pokey ice cream men arrive with their penny wares. Once in awhile a burdy gurdy man gives the children a free treat on his tray, and as they dance square dances with the rock-less abandon of youth. The young men entertain the crowds now and then by holding swimming carnivals in the water. They are better swimmers than are found at the bathing beaches. The dock becomes a strip of all nations and faces that are crossed with worry become smile-ing again. The Italians sing their arias in lusty tones and now and then a Spanish seaman thrums a fan-dango on his guitar.

Editor Constitution: Since Mrs.
Nelson wishes fairness, may I ask her through your valuable paper what is "fairness" does she obtain her information on Catholics and their religion? As every one knows, ignorance is the mother of bigotry, but does it behoove anyone to be ignorant, or rather to profess ignorance of the largest body of Christians on earth?

On all sides one may secure correct information on this religion, and which she seems so ignorant. Let her ask any Catholic about his "worship" of the mother of God. Better direct her to a study of the Catholic religion from Catholic books. These suggestions are made, of course, presuming that Mrs. Nelson is honest in her desire to be fair. When she learns the truth about the Catholic religion, I would very much like to know the comments she has to make on the answer to the question asked in this column.

mate for the people to protest any law
infringing upon their rights.

If it is not the case then our forefathers were doing wrong to register their protest against the arbitrary rule of Great Britain and if there had been no resistance to karam in England
there is no telling where it would have ended. If we do not return to common sense and take the reins out of the hands of fanatics there is no telling the end of American liberty.

It is not right to have laws that make criminals out of about two-thirds of the citizens and any such law should be repealed and the sooner the better.
Prohibition has created a feudalism
in the rural districts which forbids evil, and has done more to demoralize
the negro in the south than anything that has transpired since civil war.

It has completely incapacitated those expressed for good, honest labor. He can make a living only too easily violating the prohibition law. He spends the first of the week drinking his beer and the latter part distilling his whiskey,
and on Saturday and Sunday sells it at his picnics and preaching services. This for the negro bootlegger.

Now for the white violator, who,
by the way, is numerous and growing more so. He makes his in quantities and sells it in bulk to his town and city customers, who do the retail.

It is useless for advocates of the law
to ignore these facts and place themselves in a fool's paradise, for present conditions are a long way from a paradise.

It is much better to have whiskey legalized and handled in a sane way under government supervision in all its stages from manufacturing to selling.

I do not write this that I believe whiskey is a good thing, but that I believe prohibition is a bad thing for the country.

The War Isn't Over Yet for Some Folks.

WAR PROFITEERS CLUB
ESTABLISHED 1917

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

A DUTCH TREATMENT.
Everybody knows what Dutch courage is.

The Dutch treat was an excellent innovation in some parts of the country before the drought.

But this talk is not a dry one. It's about enuresis. That is a little trouble which a great many children have and which causes mothers a lot of work, even when they take pains to take the little ones up at 10 or thereabouts.

Dr. P. Biereus de Haan assures us in Nederlandsch Tijdschrift v. Geneeskunde, Amsterdam, that the important cause of this annoying habit is not "kidney trouble," but too deep sleep. He says the slumber of children with this very deep affliction is so profound that it is below the threshold for the normal rousing reflex for evacuation of the bladder. He admits that there may be some neuropathic factor involved in this exceptionally heavy slumber, but he assures us that his experience with two large children's asylums has demonstrated that the bed wetting is curable
by preventing the excessively sound sleep.

And how do you suppose de Haan accomplishes that?

By a Dutch treatment, to be sure.
He prescribes a nap for the child in the daytime. This succeeds in mild cases. The idea is that if the child sleeps a little in the middle of the day, say after a mid-day dinner for two hours, why, he won't have to pound
his head so heavily at night.

Another suggestion this Dutch doctor gives is that the bed wetting child should be put to bed two hours earlier in the evening when he sleeps or no. And this is certainly a helpful plan, as many harassed mothers have learned. The room need not be darkened until the usual sleeping time.

In the severe cases, in which the high humidity is a regular or invariable feature, the child should be kept in bed all day long, in an atmosphere of quiet and calm. The repose is often helpful in other respects. De Haan declares that these simple methods have proved curative in practically all cases, except only actual neurotic cases.

Attributing bed wetting to too much blaming grandpa for one's misused arteries. It seems more reasonable and more more practicable to ascribe the trouble to a neuro muscular fatigue of the urinary apparatus and, by excessive or excessively prolonged play, by harsh and sleep-inducible repression and forced quietude in school (if the child is unfortunate enough to be under the thumb of an old fogey teacher) and in undue excitement in the evening—such as nightwalking at the movies or about the street, as some sadly neglected children are allowed to do.

Children with this difficulty should be required to follow a very rigid clockwork schedule of evacuation of the bladder at certain hours all day, regularly set times, and it is absolutely necessary for teachers or others to require any child to obtain anybody's permission or consent to such a thing.
Teachers who abuse children under their control by insisting on such a thing are clearly unfit to assume such responsibility. Unfortunately we still have a sprinkling of such old fogies in our schools. Bed wetting is the least of the troubles such misman-aging of childhood by poorly trained teachers causes.

Hair Tonics and the Brain.
Is it true that the use of hair tonics and hair growers weakens the brain? Mrs. G. A. M.

Answer—No. It is the weakness of the brain that accounts for the use of the hair tonics and hair growers.

Will you please give a list of foods containing the most iron? C. H. K. 3.

walnuts, peanuts, wheat (unmilled),
egg yolks, oatmeal, lettuce, onions, as-

THE PERISCOPE

Strangely enough, reform comes before satiety in the dictionary.

Another good way to save daylight is to depend on the products of a farm for a living.

After watching Genoa, the Germans doubtless are glad there were no Rus-

The pessimist wonders what the world is coming to; the optimist wonders when it is coming to.

Some politicians are learning that even though they dead speak, nobody pays any particular attention.

Every once in a while, even in the finest churches, you find a man who preaches along religious lines.

Now that age has taken the glamor from romance, one remembers that the ole swimmin' hole was merely an overgrown mud puddle.

Europe's flood of paper money is bad enough, but it doesn't cause whole neighborhoods to roost on top of the houses.

CASH AND VALUABLES SECURED BY BURGLARS

A harvest of $242.50 in cash and many valuable articles of jewelry and clothing was reaped Tuesday night and Wednesday morning by burglars, according to reports reaching city detectives Wednesday morning.

Fifty dollars in gold and $100 in currency was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. B. C. Ragdale, at 87 Washington street, and in addition to the money a valuable gold stick pin and ring also are missing.

Entrance is believed to have been gained with a skeleton key, or by springing the lock on the front door, according to City Detectives Evans and Stone, who were detailed on the case.

The Pioneer Mercantile company, at 201 Auburn avenue, reported the loss of $85 in money and a considerable quantity of merchandise. Detectives Carter and Bullard were assigned to this robbery, but could find no clue.

BATHING SUIT HEARING SLATED FOR SATURDAY

Hearing on the petition for injunction brought by the Prade Sporting Goods company, of 184 Peachtree street, to prevent Chief of Police Beavers from interfering with a display of bathing suits on living models, which was advertised to take place in the show windows of the company several evenings this week, was set for Saturday morning by Judge George L. Bell. The exhibits will not be attempted by the concern according to its counsel, the firm of Westmoreland & Smith, until after Judge Bell passes on the issue Saturday.

Judge Bell did not grant an injunction as petitioned by the company, but set the case for hearing Saturday when both sides will have a chance to be heard.

The sporting goods dealers had advertised a bathing suit parade, in which live models would wear the latest style bathing suits in the windows of the company from 5:30 o'clock to 7:30 o'clock three evenings this week. A committee of the Christian Council petitioned Chief of Police Beavers to stop the show and the chief issued the order.

CONVENTION OF BLIND CLOSES ON WEDNESDAY

A large audience was entertained by blind musicians at Steinway hall Tuesday night. The quality of the performance would have done credit to many professional musical entertainers.

The convention of the Georgia Association of Workers for the Blind came to a close Wednesday afternoon with a business session held at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Excellent addresses were delivered by Mayor Key, Miss Sadie Peacock, N. E. Cooper, of Wilkes, P. Land, P. P. Birkle, of Hoochville, Ga., and E. H. McNeil, of Macon, Ga.

DID NOT OWN LIQUOR, SAYS FORMER OFFICER

In asking Wednesday that a story in The Constitution quoting the police as having claimed that they found 11 gallons of whisky in his room, be corrected, H. C. Walden, dropped from the force by Police Chief Beavers and whose action was sustained by the police board Tuesday, declared that only 11 pints of liquor were found.

"I was away from my home at 832 Highland avenue," said Mr. Walden. "The officers claim they found 11 pints of whisky. The whisky was brought there without my knowledge by my brother-in-law, F. E. Bryant, of Miami, Fla. I did not know he had placed any liquor in my room. I could have explained the whole matter to the police board, but they did not let me testify."

James Cobb, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Odessa Cobb, of 11 Delaware street, narrowly escaped injuries when shot accidentally in the stomach with a pistol while engaged in playing with a crowd of children at his home shortly before 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

He was rushed to the Grady hospital in the ambulance of Harry G. Poole, where when an X-ray examination showed that the bullet did not puncture the intestines, but took such a course as to only inflict a flesh wound, which, while painful, is not believed to be serious by the physicians.

BUCHANAN HOME WITH TAN COAT AND FISH STORY

With a coat of tan and a fish story he claims as original, Councilman Claude C. Buchanan, returned to Atlanta Wednesday from a combined business and pleasure tour of several southern states.

Councilman Buchanan laid the scene of his fish exploit in Florida waters. He said he went fishing Tuesday as one of the guests in a party. The mercury had climbed above 85 degrees and the fish had sought cooler depths than in their usual wont. Fishing at the customary depth was futile, he declared, and some member of the expedition conceived the bright idea that the fish were running from the sun's hot rays and had dropped down a fathom or two.

By paying out more line this was found to be true, according to the councilman's story, and they nearly swamped their boat with the catch. The councilman's story was passed on to the committee of officers.

The Constitution's Novel-a-Week

The Body in the Blue Room

BY SIDNEY WILLIAMS

Next Week, "The Range Boss"
By Charles Alden Seltzer

Conversation was resumed, without the former spontaneity. Presently Marston heard a motor come rapidly up the drive and the footfalls of a man entering the house. Then conversation as muffled he only knew two men were talking. Presently a door opening into the hall was pushed inward, and a man entered. Marston took stock of him at a glance, with instant impression of a previous encounter. It was moonlight before. But the same hooked nose and flaming eyes. Something of the hawk in his arresting personality. He stood there with a questioning air.

"You are back early, Serf," the woman said indolently.

"Yes, here was an accident." He spoke with a slight foreign accent.

"Not serious, I gather. At any rate, it enables you to meet my friend, Mr. Marston." With a slow comprehensive gesture her hand embraced Marston and the new arrival. "And this is Mr. Gondi," completing the introduction.

Both bowed. The man Marston took to be the master of the mansion had an air not altogether cordial.

"You are a resident of this vicinity?" He spoke in a somewhat peremptory fashion.

"No, I am a guest of the Carringtons."

With a quick breath the man called Gondi seemed about to shoot at Marston another question. But he restrained himself. Lighting a cigarette with elaborate care, he took his stand before the fire. Then it came: "You perhaps know Mrs. Cutshaw?"

"Yes," Marston admitted. "Is she a friend of yours?"

He caught the man's stalling look, to which the woman did not noticeably respond.

"I trust Fanny is well?" The man turned to rearrange the fire.

"I believe she is," Marston tried to register unconcern.

"Have some tea, Serf," the woman suggested.

"I do not think so," the man said, still with his back turned. "Was nothing better offered Mr. Marston?"

"Yes, he refused a cocktail."

"But he will not refuse a glass of sherry."

"I am very grateful," began Marston.

"I cannot take any refusal. It is a sherry I do not often offer."

"But I should be going."

"Not until you have tried it. I myself will select the bottle. Pardon, monsieur."

He departed as abruptly as he had come. Conversation between Marston and the woman went on in desultory fashion. Now and then he caught her questioning glance, and could not resist the impression that she was disturbed. Presently a negro servant entered with a decanter and two glasses on a tray.

"Mr. Gondi," he announced, "presents his compliments to Mr. Marston. And is sorry for a call on the long distance telephone. If the gentleman will pour himself a glass, Mr. Gondi will join him presently."

When his message was delivered the negro seemed much relieved. Partly to please him, for he was fond of negro servants, Mr. Marston poured himself a glass. With a protest, "Thank you, sir," the colored man retired.

"Is it good?" the woman asked after he had taken a sip or two.

"Prime sherry. And good as ever I tasted. It has a flavor curiously distinctive."

"Talk fell into musical channels. And presently she corrected him. "But Florida is not a character in 'La Boheme'."

"Certainly not. But weren't we talking of 'La Tosca'?" He pulled himself together with an effort.

"Please do not drink any more wine, Mr. Marston." She spoke sharply.

"But, my dear lady!" He spoke in confusion, regarding his half-empty glass.

"Oblige me, please. And will you excuse me for a few minutes?"

She was already on her way to the door. At the threshold she paused; "Remember, please. No more wine."

Marston sat absorbed in thought. But not fluently coherent thought. Now he took stock of himself; it seemed his mind had been increasing unwidely for several minutes. Objects about him were a bit blurred. And somewhere he heard a faint singing. He made a resolute effort to steady his head, and sharpen perception. He heard talk in the hall again. This time it was the woman of chance acquaintance. He recognized her voice. And the man called Gondi.

"You drugged his wine," were her first words he heard.

"And if I did?"

"I will not have it."

"Do you love the fool?"

"You are foolish. He was kind to me. And I will not have harm come to him in consequence of it."

"He walked into my hands," the man said. "And he is the man I want. It is my good fortune that he comes. That fool Antonio nearly killed him this morning. Now I will keep him safe, until he tells me what I must know."

"And you will do him no injury?"

"I promise."

"I don't trust you," the woman said, after a brief silence. "I am going back to him."

"You will go to your room."

"Are you my master?"

"Physically, my dear Christine. It was after all a fortunate strain. Must I force you?"

Silence again followed by slow retreating footsteps. With his eyes on the door, Marston leaned against the table at his elbow in a drowsy

Dr. Ben, it was evident that the district attorney had confided his impression of the Cutshaw case to a correspondent of the metropolitan daily. While the report had it that he refused to be interviewed—"a person in authority" had given the reporter the ascertained facts of Fanny's death, stranger, clutched Carlotta by the wrist. "When you arrived," he explained, "the lady was about to confide in me." "I won't tell," said Carlotta desperately. "But you will." The man's tone made the assertion a threat. Marston moved to step between them, but the stranger was too quick; and his action was unexpected. A lean brown hand came suddenly from his pocket, and Marston looked into the muzzle of a revolver. "Since you have intruded on this conference, I fear we must continue it—elsewhere."

News of Society and Woman's Work

Sims-Middlebrooks Wedding Is Solemnized at Home

The marriage of Miss Ruth Elisabeth Sims and Chauncey Vance Middlebrooks, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, in Peachtree circle, Wednesday evening, was a quiet but impressive affair.

Dr. J. B. Eakes, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Handsome Decorations.

The altar, which was in the reception room, was banked with palms and ferns. Handsome candelabra and floral centerpieces were placed on the altar. In the other rooms the color scheme of pink and white was carried out in garden flowers, artfully arranged.

Mrs. Grover Middlebrooks, matron of honor, wore a lovely gown of pink tulle, the skirt fashioned in a full, flowing style. She carried a bouquet of gladioli, roses, sweet peas, and blue iris.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Sims, wore orchid tulle, with the Bourbon gladioli, sweet peas, blue iris and roses, in a ragged bouquet.

Misses Margaret Logan, Mary Belle Dickey, Marion Jace, and Ruth Curry, the dainty little bridesmaids, wore pink georgette.

The flower girl, little Miss Emma Middlebrooks, was dressed in a becoming frock of flesh-colored chiffon trimmed with lace. She carried a basket of pink rosebuds.

Grover Middlebrooks acted as his brother's best man.

Raidant Bride.

The bride was charming in an exquisite gown of white satin combined with real lace and beaded with tiny pearls and rhinestones. She wore a court train. Her veil was caught here and there with orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet consisted of orchids and bride's roses, showered with valley lilies.

A reception followed the ceremony at which Mrs. Sims was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. A. R. Hightower, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Logan, of Washington, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Grover Middlebrooks, Mrs. W. D. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Camp Cassels.

Punch was served in the sun parlor and on the front porch. The tables were decorated with a profusion of garden flowers.

In the dining room the large wedding cake was in the center of the table. The same color motif was carried out in the table decorations.

Mrs. Thomas LeRoy Sims, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of black lace, trimmed with black satin. Her corsage was of lavender sweet peas.

Mrs. Middlebrooks, mother of the groom, wore a becoming gray chiffon, heavily beaded, and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. W. D. Brown, an aunt of the bride, was gowned in black lace, and had a corsage of lavender and pink sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Middlebrooks left during the evening for a wedding trip to New York.

Miss Mary Stoney Is Bride Of Mr. Gray at All Saints'

A marriage of cordial interest to a host of friends was that of Miss Mary Stoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Louis Stoney, and Charles McLean Gray, of Youngstown, Ohio, which took place Wednesday evening at All Saints' Episcopal church, at 10 o'clock. Rev. W. McMeninger, pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assembly of friends and relatives.

Church Decorations.

The elaborate decorations were of handsome palms and Easter lilies. The entire church was banked with palms, while altar vases holding Easter lilies outlined the chancel and altar. Cathedral candelabra, holding white candles, gave an artistic effect to the bower of green and white. Preceding the entrance of the bride party, a special program of appropriate music was rendered.

Bridal Party.

The ushers were Messrs. Milton Dugan, Sr., Dr. William Perrin Nicholson, Jr., Lewis Strum, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Everett Strupper, Sr., of Columbus; T. L. Johnson and Melvin Minchell.

The bridesmaids entered the church in pairs. They were Misses Carroll Gray, of St. Petersburg, Fla., sister of the groom; Ann Hart, Polly Hart, Alice Gray, Lucy Elizabeth Harper and Mary Alice Thomas, of Griffin. Their gowns were fashioned alike of shell-pink chiffon over pink silk, with long, waisted bodices reflecting the bateau neck line and without sleeves, while the skirt was beautifully draped and fell in long points. French rosebuds formed the train and fell in a garland effect at the left side of the skirt. All the attendants carried cascade shower bouquets of Dresden flowers in the pastel shades.

Mrs. Catherine McDougall, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore an attractive frock of lavender chiffon beautifully beaded in crystals, over a foundation of cloth of silver.

The maid of honor, Miss Patty McGee, the bride's cousin, was lovely in a gown of green chiffon over cloth of silver. The waist was fashioned with the bateau neckline and embroidered in a pearl design. Side panels, heavily embroidered, fell on either side of the skirt, to form the uneven hem line, and were also beaded in an elaborate pearl motif.

The little flower girl, Miss Susan McMeninger, wore a dainty frock of pink chiffon with touches of lace and narrow ribbons.

Arthur Gray, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was his brother's best man, and the groomsmen were Dr. William Bun, Arthur Reynolds, William Heiny, all of Youngstown; Clyde Reese, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Curry Moon and Stewart Coleman.

Charming Bride.

The lovely bride entered with her brother, Dr. Calhoun McDougall, who gave her in marriage. She was a charming figure in her wedding dress of white duchess satin embroidered in an artistic design of pearls. Falling gracefully on the left side of the skirt was a large pearl ornament showered with crystals and pearls. The waist was hand-embroidered in pearls, and was fashioned with the bateau neckline and short tight sleeves. A long-beaded panel adorned the front of the skirt, and was fashioned with artistic side draperies. The full veil was caught to her soft hair with coronet of rare lace and orange blossoms. It fell in graceful folds to the end of the long pearl-embroidered satin train, which was fastened to the shoulders. She carried an arm bouquet of orchids showered with valley lilies.

Elaborate Reception.

A brilliant reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. McGee, on East Fifteenth street, followed the ceremony.

The spacious home was elaborately decorated with massive palms, foliage plants and other greenery as a background for pedestal baskets of Easter lilies, gladioli, roses and sweet peas in the pastel shades.

The bride's table was placed in the dining room, and extending the center was a plateau of Easter lilies, smilax, pink roses and pink gladioli. Silver candelsticks holding pink tapers, and small vases of pink flowers were placed at intervals on the table.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were dainty gold pins. The groom presented silver cigarette holders to his groomsmen and leather or bill folders to the ushers. The place cards were exquisite little pink slippers. Covers were placed for the bride and groom and wedding attendants.

Mrs. Stoney, mother of the bride, was gowned in gray chiffon, beaded in crystals.

Mrs. C. C. McGee, aunt of the bride, wore a black gown.

Mrs. Gray, the groom's mother, was gowned in black tulle and jet. During the evening Mr. Gray and his bride left for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home in Youngstown, Ohio.

Prominent Families.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mrs. Christopher Louis Stoney and the late Dr. Stoney. She attended the Washington seminary and later completed her education at Lucy Cobb institute in Athens. Although she has not made a formal bow to society she has been a popular member of the younger set.

During the war period she was head of the Red Cross chapter at Lucy Cobb, rendering valuable patriotic service.

The bride on her paternal line represents an old and aristocratic family of South Carolina, of distinguished lineage for many generations, and her maternal grandfather, the late Christopher Columbus McGee, was one of the pioneer, constructive and foremost citizens of his day.

Mr. Gray is the son of Mrs. Charles M. Gray, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and the late Rev. Gray, a beloved and eminent Episcopal rector. He attended Sewanee college and after completing his studies returned to St. Petersburg, where he was successful engaged in business as a banker.

When America entered the world war Mr. Gray volunteered his services to his country, and entered the Naval Training school in Charleston, S. C.

After receiving his honorable discharge from the service he went to Youngstown, Ohio, to reside, where he is associated and has won a prominent place in the business world as a banker. He is a member of the social clubs of Youngstown.

Forty guests were present.

Mary Baldwin Alumnae To Entertain.

Miss Venise Mayson entertained the Atlanta chapter of the Mary Baldwin Alumnae association on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue. Mrs. L. E. Chaloner presided and much pleasure was expressed in her presence again in Atlanta after a number of months spent at her home in the mountains of Virginia.

The special subject of discussion was the report from the scholarship committee upon the second year's work of Miss Virginia Abby Bull, daughter of Mrs. Libby Abby Bull, of Fusan, Korea. She is reported as showing marked improvement and advancement in class work and interest in all worth-while activities of the seminary.

Miss Bull's mother was one of the most brilliant of Mary Baldwin graduates and her father is a brother of the Rev. Mr. Bull, who was so highly valued as pastor of West End Presbyterian church. The alumnae scholarship at Mary Baldwin is conferred each year upon the daughter of a missionary, an alumna of the seminary, serving on the home or foreign mission field, to carry with it full tuition, music, languages and board, also necessary school expenses.

Through the courtesy and liberality of the board of trustees, a concession of 50 per cent was made for this scholarship. Even then to enable a girl to go comfortably and modestly through the full school term, the Alumnae association deems the sum of $500 necessary.

Atlanta chapter expressed great pleasure in the progress of Miss Bull and the hope that she would continue the use of the missionary scholarship until graduation.

Mrs. Chaloner desires to organize a Georgia chapter of Mary Baldwin alumnae and asks that all the "old girls" from the seminary will write to her, care Mr. L. E. Chaloner, Transportation building, Atlanta.

After the meeting, delightful refreshments were served.

Roses, larkspur, cress, and daisies and other flowers were used in decoration of the reception apartments.

The tea table was overlaid with a lace cover and held a low silver basket of garden flowers encircled with small vases filled with the same assortment of flowers, placed at intervals with silver candlesticks with rose unshaded tapers.

Mrs. Sanders was gowned in Alice blue georgette crepe.

Mrs. Somerville wore an afternoon model of ecru lace combined with chiffon.

Mrs. Palmer wore an imported model of white silk lace and chiffon with a picture hat to match and a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Chester B. Blakeman was gowned in white crepe de Chine, with orange blossoms and pearls and Princess lace. The bridal bouquet

Fifty-One Years on Same Job While Employers Come and Go

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 14.—Fifty-one years ago Miss Dora Ridder took a job in a cap factory here. She liked her job and liked her employers. Therefore she made up her mind that she'd stay. And she has.

In doing so Dora has set two records for her sex to shoot at in the years to come. First, she showed that a woman can go fifty years without changing her mind; second, she has set a long distance record for sticking to the job.

When she began making caps in a factory Dora was twenty-five. Now she's 76.

Four years after she started to work her sister, Carrie, came to work beside her. Carrie is still there also.

"Yes, years have flown and times have changed," Dora said as she celebrated her first anniversary at one job, before her machine in the factory.

"The grandsons of my first boss are running the factory now, but that doesn't make me feel old. When I started working here they weren't born."

"We used to make caps by hand, but now it's by machine. Outside of that things haven't changed so much."

girdle trimmed in fringe. Her hat was of golden brown straw and she wore a corsage of orchids and gardenias.

The table had exquisite Madeira cloth, and was graced by a large silver basket of purple and lavender sweet peas and boudoir. Encircling this were silver candlesticks holding tall lavender tapers, and at intervals were silver compotes of bonbons shading from the deepest green to a very light green and also lavender mints.

The serving platters were of a beautiful shade of lavender and the guests' places were marked by cards bearing the hostess' monogram in gold.

Mrs. Woodward Is Appointed On Reception Committee

Mrs. A. O. Woodward has been appointed by General Julian S. Carr, commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, to serve on the reception committee at the reunion to be held in Richmond, Va., June 19 to 22, inclusive.

Through her efforts and those of her committee, 135 confederate veterans will go to the reunion this year. She has sent delegates to several reunions, among those including Houston, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Woodward has also been instrumental in arranging entertainments for the veterans at the soldiers' home, and has acted as chairman of the home committee.

Among other strong points which have been brought out by Mrs. Woodward, as chairman of the state legislative committee, Georgia Division, U. D. E., was the passage of the measure providing annual pensions of $32 as spending money for the veterans in the home.

Mrs. Palmer Is Honored.

Mrs. Leigh Palmer, of New York, who is visiting Mrs. William P. Hill, was honor guest at the luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Robert F. Shedd, at her home on Peachtree road.

BEAUTY CHATS

IMAGINATION AND HEALTH

Last week when we were talking about the value of auto-suggestion we said that the imagination was stronger than the will, and that marvellous cures had been performed by making people imagine themselves well.

The Coue system is to have the patient repeat this formula: "Every day in every way I am getting better and better." It doesn't matter whether you believe this or not. You must repeat it twenty times on waking in the morning, twenty times after you get in bed at night. Coue suggests that you have a little string or ribbon with twenty knots in it and say this formula once for every knot. This is a sort of Rosary of Health, but the idea is simply to help you repeat the formula the proper number of times.

As I said it does not matter whether you believe this or not, you say it forty times every day, and you say it when your mind is apt to be relaxed and sleep. The idea will gradually go from your conscious to your subconscious mind and the imagination will take hold and begin its good work. I know that people will scoff at this and many of my readers will probably write and tell me this is all nonsense. If nonsense, it is perfectly harmless.

Yet the fact that it is not nonsense is proved by the number of people Coue has cured and the innumerable others who have been made better by this method of imagining themselves improved. Coue's cures are performed by influencing directly the imagination of the subconscious mind of the people who come to him, and therein of course lies his marvellous power.

Everly—"Red vaseline" is the product that is taken from the petroleum, or the pure product before it is either medicated or bleached, which "scurvy" happens when making up various trade articles.

Anxious—You do not need to reduce your weight so much, as you need to correct your digestion. Observe what it is you eat on those days when your abdomen becomes so swollen and avoid some of the foods until you discover which ones are disagreeing with you. Build up the system also, as perfect health would indicate a good digestion.

Germaine—Reduce the flesh on the hips and legs by taking exercises for this part of the body. ## GOLF FINALS AT PIEDMONT

Mrs. Clarence Bradley, Mrs. T. T. Williams, Pat Hammond, of The Constitution and A. W. Brewerton, of The Journal, are the principal figures in the activities at the Piedmont park municipal golf course today.

Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Williams will fight it out in the finals of the tournament being staged under the auspices of the Atlanta Women's Golf association for possession of the trophy being offered by the Maier & Berkeley company.

Hammond and Brewerton have gone through the competition in the newspaper men's golf tournament like a cyclone through Kansas and the winner of today's match will have possession for one year of the beautiful Dan Michaelov Northern Enterprises trophy.

Moving pictures will be taken of the finalists and will be shown later at one of the Atlanta theatres.

The match between Hammond and Brewerton will be over a thirty-six hole route. Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Williams will battle for out eighteen.

Both matches will get under way promptly at nine-thirty o'clock and the public is invited to attend the festivities.

In the semi-finals of the women's tournament, held yesterday morning, Mrs. Williams won from Mrs. Dowler Lowndes 4 up and 3 to play in one of the semi-finals.

Bradley defeated Miss Rosalie Mayer by 3 and 2. The winners were playing with stroke allowances donated by the opposition.

At the turn, Miss Mayer was one down, a splendid approach shot by Mrs. Bradley stopping within a few inches of the pin. She took a par three to Miss Mayer's four.

Miss Mayer had an 84 for the 44 for the first nine and the end of the match, at the sixteenth green found her with but 74 for the 16 holes with a couple of short holes for the finish. Mrs. Lowndes had an 84 for the 18, excellent scoring on the Piedmont course.

LIGHTS GO OUT; FIGHTER COMES BACK

Chicago, June 14.—Persons who saw Jack Malone defeated by Bryan Downey in their ten-round bout at Aurora, last night, are wondering today just why the lights went out at the start of the ninth round and whether that ancient relic of almost forgotten days was used as a means of giving Downey a rest when he was in a bad way or whether it was just a natural failure of the electrical current.

Downey had started off with a rush, knocking down Malone in the first round, but from then on Jack had things his own way. In the eighth round Malone had one of Downey's nose and the Cleveland batter seemed wobbly. The crowd yelled to Jack to finish him in the next round and Downey's seconds worked feverishly over their fighter. Then, as the ninth was about to start, with Downey still seemingly groggy and Malone ready to rush in—the lights went out. During the three minutes that Downey's seconds worked vigorously and had him ready when the lights came on again.

THOMAS PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Blackhear, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—In one of the prettiest games of the season Jump defeated Blackhear here today by the score of 1 to 0. Thomas pitched a no-hit, no-run game.

Kicklighter, for locals, pitched consistent ball, allowing only four hits and striking out seven batters. The game was featured by the all-around play of both teams. Babe, for the visitors, got two singles out of four trips and Thomas won his own game with a hit to center in fifth.

Blackhear plays in Brunswick tomorrow.

BREEZY WINN IS REAL STAR

Making his debut as a hurler in the Southern league Tuesday, "Breezy" Winn, of Perry, Ga., former university star and G. M. C. player, who was sent from Mercer direct to the Boston Red Sox, was defeated 1-0 by Nashville, although the former Mercer southpaw yielded only four hits to the league-leading Mobile team.

Winn was opposed by Henry, sent to Mobile by the St. Louis Browns, who also is a southpaw. The winning tally was made on two successive singles and a sacrifice fly.

After leaving G. M. C., where he played with "Mutt" Rhodes and the Thrasher boys, Winn came to Mercer. He was regarded as one of the great college pitchers in the south that season, which fact was attested by his going to the Boston team. After only fair success in the big circuit, due largely to his youthfulness, "Breezy" was shipped to Des Moines in the Western league, from which organization he was sent to Oakland, Cal., in the Pacific Coast league, and Nashville obtained him from that team.

Winn was Great Star.

Twirling for Mercer, Winn had the distinction covered by all southern college baseball pitchers, via, to win from Georgia in Athens. He also took two from Auburn and added another from the Tech Yellow Jackets in Atlanta, winning 8-0, in a game featured by his work in the box and at bat, getting a three-base hit with the sacks covered. Three times in the game, Tech fired the bases but Winn let them down without a marker. This was "Breezy's" first college game.

The first Georgia game in Athens resulted in a 5-4 victory for Mercer. Ludy Bloodworth winning the second game in the Classic City, 6-0, giving the Baptists a clean sweep. Winn lost to Georgia in Macon 1-0, being opposed by Jack Frost.

Last season in the Pacific Coast league, Winn was rated second among the hurlers of the circuit as figured according to number of earned runs scored against him. His career in the Southern league will be watched with interest by Georgia fans as "Breezy" truly is a "made-in-Georgia" product.

RECORD SET IN HOMERS

A new record for the largest number of home runs made in the major leagues in a single day was believed to have been set Wednesday when nine circuit clouts were marked up.

Of these, five were made by the Giants against the Pirates at New York, while the remaining four were in the American league, all without the help of Babe Ruth, too.

The Giants won their series, 13 to 0, further increasing their lead in the National pennant race. "Irish" Mense started the fireworks with a homer in the first inning, with one man on base. He was followed by Snyder, who swatted a four-bagger with one on in the fourth and another in the sixth. Groh added to the good work by lining a beauty into deep center, scoring a mate, and "Shufflin' Phil" Douglas knocked one in the eighth, with two men on.

Harry Hellman, of Detroit, sent the Bambino a lesson in homers by smashing one over the fence in the first inning of the game with the Yanks, while the Tigers won 6 to 2.

Walker of the Athletics batted one in the sixth inning of the game, which his team lost to Chicago, 6 to 5. Rogers of Washington, who led the St. Louis matchless, the Browns winning 7 to 6.

The Senators' defeat by St. Louis pushed them down the ladder, from third position to fifth, Cleveland and Detroit being locked in a tie for fourth by reason of the Indians' 3 to 0 victory over the Red Sox.

Because of rain, which caused postponement of the Cincinnati-Philadelphia game, the Cubs' 15 to 2 squabbling of the Braves moved Chicago up to fifth place in the league standing, with the Reds dropping to sixth. Brooklyn weakened the Cardinals' hold on third notch by winning from them, 4 to 0.

FIELDS MUST BATTLE HARD

Nashville, Tenn., June 14.—(Special.)—With Ed Karl banished to Vicksburg, Tom Gallagher about to be exiled to a circuit lower than Dixie, Connie Fields must fight with one of the three Vol recruit rubbers for a regular role.

The former Traveler buzzed off to a stylish start after enrolling under the Doyle banner. His curving clabber, thereafter, however, was not as hard as he had hoped in manufacturing a verdict. In fact the last time Connie Fields was able to obtain a regular job was when he was sent to do Vol live and trap out one of the most amazing thick skull stunts ever unfurled in Dixie. That was the day he staged a footrace for third base with Chick Knapp.

Of course his extended absence at the sick bed of his wife in Arkansas may have gummed the smoothness of slugging for Connie Fields, still he must with the same determination in Mobile which marked many of his former showings—a tendency to weaken in the closing stages.

Must Fight Hard.

With Red Lucas and George McQuillan assured of berths, with Lefty Winn and Frank Herbst in camp and Wilhelm Keiser en route, Fields finds himself battling for a berth. Proxy Sloan stated last night that it was his intention to carry only five batters and that Connie Fields to stick must display fancier form than the Coast recruits and the Mint Julep leaguer.

Definite disposition of Tom Gallagher obtained from the Barons in a swap for Bill Statham, has not been decided upon. Proxy Sloan stated last night that several offers for Fields had been made but he had left the matter with Larry Doyle for decision.

The home man is considerably downcast over the decision of the Vol board. In eight foreign forays to date they have eked out but a pair of decisions. Both were from the Crackers, and the foreign misshaps have left the Doylees dangerously close to the dungeon depths.

What's the matter with the Vols? They rarely get as many runs as their rivals. And when you cannot even draw how can you win?

CIRCUIT FOR S. GEORGIA

Macon, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—South Georgia is determined to have plenty of baseball this summer. It would seem from the semi-pro organizations which have been formed in this section. The latest association to be formed includes the teams of Sylvester, Tifton, Albany, Dawson, Moultrie, Quitman, Ocala and Meigs. This body yet is in the embryonic stage but it is expected that final plans will be completed this week and that the league, which is not named as yet, will get under way June 22.

Some of the best baseball talent in the state will be seen in action on the teams in this association, it is said. The Albany team will be composed chiefly of the University of Georgia aggregation, while Dawson has listed the Gordon institute outfit, plus a few college stars, Harvey Sheppard and "Shorty" Poore included. Coach E. P. Mosley of Gordon, probably will pilot Dawson's team.

All of the clubs in the proposed semi-pro association have announced that their teams are ready for the opening games except the Moultrie, and this organization will be completed within a few days, it was announced.

As planned, the schedule will provide three home games each week for each of the six teams in the association, necessitating that all teams play every day. The tentative schedule calls for five to eight weeks of baseball games. Great rivalry has been shown in the inter-city games played in south Georgia this season and the formation of the proposed association is expected to increase this spirit of rivalry.

THOMASVILLE LEADS GOLF LEAGUE

Thomasville, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—The Thomasville team in the Georgia-Florida golf league is still leading the league, having won all the games so far this season, with the exception of a tie with Moultrie. The standing of the teams at present is:

Moultrie ..... 2 ..... 2 ..... .500

Quitman ..... 2 ..... 3 ..... .400

The next game will be with Albany in that city on the 22d and as several of Thomasville's best players are away the team may have a hard battle before them.

ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK TEAM WINS

The Atlanta National bank team defeated the fast Federal Reserve team at Piedmont park Tuesday afternoon 4-2. The pitching and hitting of Golightly for the Atlanta National team was of the sensational variety, winning his own game in the ninth inning by hitting for 3 bags with two on.

The fielding of both teams was of good variety, four double killings being registered. Wooten, of the Atlanta National team, deserves considerable mention for his all-round playing, as also does Rogers, they featuring in three double killings. Rogers to Wooten to Blasingame. Hawkins, of the Federal team, pitched a good game.

FOUL LOSES FOR J. ABEL

BY W. G. POSTER.

(In Chattanooga Times.)
Chattanooga, Tenn., June 14.—(Special.)—Our old friend and fellow townsman, Jake Abel, figured in a sensational episode in the Havana arena last Thursday night, the episode being a fight between Jake and young Wallace after the regular fight was over.

It took forty policemen to keep the two frenzied scrappers apart and keep the crowd from rushing in. Because of rain, which have known him as one of the cleanest, most sportsmanlike scrappers in the game, was following to between the lines and realize that the foul on which Jake was disqualified was very questionable and that the after-fight was started by Wallace.

Abel sending a series of hard left jabs at his opponent's chin. Wallace closed in and some of that fast in-fighting which had characterized the earlier part of the fight followed, when Abel's head came in contact with Wallace's left eye, opening up a long cut which bled profusely, making it almost impossible for him to see.

The fight was stopped for a while until Wallace's eye was examined and Referee Rice warned Abel that if he hit again he would be disqualified.

The twelfth had just started when Wallace reared his head up as though he had been butted again and with the referee separated the men, he rushed over to where the judges' committee was sitting and again called attention to his eye. After some discussion, during which Abel was walking around the ring apparently wondering what all the fuss was about, Referee Rice held up Wallace's arm, declaring him the winner.

Abel walked into his corner disgusted, followed by Wallace, who apparently wanted to make some explanation, but Abel waved him away. Wallace persisted, taking hold of Abel and pulling him around. This started a hammer and tong set-to which lasted about thirty minutes, the police, over forty of them swarming into the ring and separating the two men. They afterwards had to report at the police station for engaging in an unauthorized fist encounter.

Weights were announced before the fight as Abel 147 pounds and Wallace 161. There was a large crowd at Fronton made up of spectators of particular interest of each man and it was a very unusual finish.

Referee's story of the earlier rounds indicate that up to the rounds of the alleged foul, the fight was one of the most exciting ever seen in Havana and that Abel had a big edge, at one time Wallace apparently almost knocked out.

DOUGLASVILLE TEAM BEATEN

Tate, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—The strong team from Tate defeated the undefeated Douglasville team by a score of 10-4 today at Douglasville. It was Douglasville's first defeat of the season.

Baker began the game for Tate but he was relieved by Humphrey in the fourth inning on account of a wrenched side that he suffered a few days ago. Humphrey pitched masterly ball after he entered the game.

The terrific battling of the entire Tate team was the principal feature of the game. Tate hit safely 21 times, in which were included 6 doubles. On the defensive, Sandow, of Tate, was the outstanding star, handling all chances in faultless style.

Jimmy Richards directed the Tate team in a high-class manner and is fast developing the best ball team in the state.

Carlisle, formerly of the Crackers, hit a home run for Douglasville, scoring a man in front, accounting for half of his team's scores.

Chambers started in the box for Douglasville, but gave way to Peace, who failed to check the heavy hitting of the Tate aggregation.

Score by inning: R. H. E.
Tate ..... 000 204 103-20 21 3
Douglasville ..... 002 020 000-4 8 3

Batteries: Baker, Humphrey and Hammontree; Chambers, Peace and Smith.

KIRKWOOD'S GAME BETTER

Chicago, June 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jack Hutchison, Chicago golf professional, who is in England to defend his title as British open champion, traveled some 4,000 miles to prove his assertion that Joe Kirkwood, Australian open champion and trick golf shooter, is a better golfer than Hutchison, for the man from the antipodes took Hutchison's measure yesterday at Glasgow.

The Australian not only defeated Hutchison 2 up in an 18 hole round, but in a medal contest over the Alexander course, scored a 68, clipping 4 strokes off the course record, held jointly by Vardon, Duncan, Braid and Caven.

It was only a month ago that Hutchison, speaking of his play in the last British open championship tournament, asserted that "Kirkwood is a better golfer than I am."

When doubt was generously cast on this remark by friends, Hutchison exclaimed:

Kirkwood Better.

"Just wait and see what Kirkwood does this summer. He has every shot that any golfer has, in addition to his trick shots, and he can play all the ordinary strokes with either right or left hand. As soon as he settles down to practicing regular tournament shots he will make the world sit up and take notice."

Shortly afterward both went to Great Britain, and for one time at least so far to prove his prediction he is a player of the game. There was no real need for Hutchison to travel so far to prove his prediction for they will meet at Skokie club, Chicago, in the national open in July.

Their game will also be compared soon in the British open, which Hutchison also predicted he would be unlikely to win twice in succession.

BUFORD DEFEATS EXPRESS COMPANY

Buford, Ga., June 14.—(Special.) Buford defeated the Atlanta American Railway Express company baseball team here today by the score of 3 to 2. ## WILLARD WILLING TO MEET DEMPSEY

Los Angeles, Cal., June 14.—Jess Willard is willing to meet Jack Dempsey in a return match for the world's heavyweight championship.

So the big Kansas rancher, oil magnate and ex-champion, informed a newspaperman when cornered in his home in the Hollywood district here.

"I would meet Dempsey if we could come to terms," the scribe quoted Willard as saying. "Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and I have talked over the terms of another match, but we haven't come to any definite understanding yet."

Willard intimated that the question of gate receipts of such a match would not stand as a barrier to his signing the articles. He declared his Kansas property was yielding him a good income and he was willing to meet Dempsey again because he was of the opinion the champion could be beaten, and he would be willing to try it.

It is generally reported here that Willard has been in training since his arrival from the east several weeks ago.

The Human Terms of Tire Competition

MANY an American citizen has turned down a "job that looks like more money" in favor of a chance to do better work.

He gets called an idealist, perhaps. But when folks want to buy good merchandise and satisfactory service he's the kind of man they look for.

For practical example note the tire business.

Think back to the time when cord tires started to be talked about.

Cord construction had for its ideal a bigger service value for the car owner.

Whenever the cord principle was faithfully carried out it lived up to its original vision.

Now the makers of U. S. Royal Cords ask permission to put this on record:

Without high integrity of manufacture the cord tire might just as well not have been discovered at all.

Respect for the fine and rigid rules of cord tire building has made U. S.

Prices on United States Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, effective May 8th, are not subject to war-tax, the war-tax having been included.

Delegations from the major countries arrived today, or late tonight, but some of the representatives of the smaller countries will not reach The Hague until after the opening of tomorrow's meeting. The British delegation, headed by Sir Philip Lloyd-George, numbers 5, and the Italian delegation, headed by Baron Azevodo, number 3. Some of the smaller countries, like Czechoslovakia, may not dispatch representatives until June 26, when the meetings with the Russians will begin.

Our Impartial Management of Warehouse Properties Makes the Warehouse Receipts Readily Negotiable

COTTON, tobacco, sugar and other staple raw and finished commodities may be financed in large volume, under our plan, by owners or operators of warehouses who require the services of a responsible, impartial management in order to assure the ready negotiability of warehouse receipts.

This Company's warehouse receipts thus furnish our clients with receipts possessing unusual credit advantages.

COMMODITY LOANS: Through the medium of its affiliated company, the Warehouse Finance Corporation, storage customers of Independent Warehouses, Inc. may effect loans on staple commodities, with the warehouse receipts as collateral; and may also arrange for financing the shipment and distribution of merchandise stored.

Miss Ramsey, Soprano, and Mrs. Hughes, Pianist, Play Varied Program for WDAW.

The radio world found two new favorites through WDAW last night when Miss Ruth Ramsey sang and Mrs. Bruce Hughes played the piano for The Atlanta Constitution's regular 9 o'clock broadcast.

Miss Ramsey's clear soprano voice made the microphones ring in delight with cadence with four vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Hughes, and Mrs. Hughes coaxed pleasing music out of the piano in three instrumental solos.

She used the Wellington piano, furnished by the Cable Piano company.

The program was opened by Miss Ramsey with "The Jasmine Door," by Scott, a tuneful semi-sentimental ballad. Although it was Miss Ramsey's first solo on radio, she had adapted herself perfectly before she had finished the last stanza.

"The Mountain Stream," by Smith, a descriptive piano composition of considerable beauty, was played by Mrs. Hughes as the second number. Although piano music is a little difficult to broadcast perfectly, the player readily succeeded in acquiring the emphasis necessary for good effect.

Miss Ramsey sang "In Arcady by Moonlight" as the third part of the program. She was followed by Mrs. Hughes with excerpts from Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2. Miss Ramsey sang "The Star" as the fifth number of the program.

The final piano solo was "Capriccio," by Wachs, played by Mrs. Hughes, and the concluding number of the evening was "I Love You Truly," written by Carrie Jacobs Bond, an ever-popular song which the talented soprano presented beautifully for WDAW's listeners.

The regular news and market service was broadcast at the 6 o'clock period.

SPECIAL SCHOOL TAX REFUSED AT VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., June 14.—(Special.) In an election held here today to determine whether the taxpayers desire a local school purposes, the advocates of the increased millage were defeated when they failed to carry the election by the necessary two-thirds majority.

Only 502 votes were cast and out of the number 233 voted for the five mills and 200 against the increase. Although five mills increase was voted on, the school board stated that only two mills would be used for the next two years, if the increase carried. An increase of two mills would have given the schools $18,000.

What the American Bible Society terms a renewed interest in the Bible is to be "strengthened and abetted" by daily Bible readings from the Newark, New Jersey, broadcasting station of the Westinghouse Company (WJZ).

The readings began last Sunday and selections were made by P. Whitwell Wilson, author of a number of religious books and correspondent of the London Daily News, according to reports. The American Bible Association claims to distribute nearly five hundred copies of the Scriptures in one hundred and fifty languages and dialects.

Armstrong's New Device to Solve Many Problems

Extraordinary possibilities unfold themselves as the result of Major Edwin H. Armstrong's recently announced super-regenerative circuit.

If, as its inventor claims, it will amplify the ordinary receiving set 100,000 times, and thus dispense with all necessity for an aerial, it is likely to have as great an effect on reception as his famous "feed-back circuit" had on transmission, to which it is now considered indispensable.

In demonstration Major Armstrong proved that a signal which could barely be heard by the ordinary receiver, amplified by his super-regenerative circuit set, equipped with an antenna at the most critical zero point, could be heard all over the room with the new circuit.

Among the benefits claimed by the inventor for his super-regenerative receiver is one which will be greatly appreciated by amateurs, particularly—namely the fact that it will throw off the range of wave lengths below 200 meters to effective reception by the ordinary set. One largely undeveloped field of radio during the past has been the shore wave lengths and their satisfactory use will not only encourage the amateur to further effort, but also contribute toward cutting down the cost of broadcasting at some early day in the future.

ANSWERS TO 9 QUESTIONS

Radio Editor:—What is the natural wave length of an aerial 140 feet long, lead-in 40 feet, ground wire, 15 feet? Please state the number of turns of number 24 D. C. wire to put on the rotors and stators of home-made variocoupler and carnoter.

E. O.

The wave length of your aerial is about 290 meters. Use about 70 turns of wire on your variocoupler stator and about 40 turns on the rotor, also, 40 turns on both the variometer rotor and stator.

Radio Editor: I made a stagger-wound coil regenerative set and got excellent results. I have the coils arranged as shown. I have read since that the tickler should feed back on the result and is correct?

It is correct that the tickler should feed back on the secondary.

LISTENING IN

Chess by radio! Edward Lasker of Chicago, American amateur champion, and El. T. Gunrich, on board the steamship President Taft, played a chess match recently. Lasker won the match for his invisible opponent, in the twenty-fourth move.

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

BY EDWARD N. DAVIS

THE TELEPHONE TRANSMITTER.

The telephone transmitter, with which every one is familiar as a means of conveying the voice over wires, has come into extensive use as a device for modulating radio frequency currents for the transmission by radio of music or the spoken word. It is a sound wave or vibration operated device designed to produce electro-magnetic waves which correspond in form to the sound waves or vibrations.

The present standard carbon transmitter consists of a diaphragm, two solid carbon electrodes, and a quantity of carbon in granulated form. Vibration of the diaphragm causes the electrode attached to it to compress or release the granules between the electrodes. Carbon granules under varying pressure have a varying contact resistance. The result is, the current in the circuit in which the transmitter is connected, varies with the vibrations of the diaphragm.

The transmitter described above is usually connected in the primary circuit of a transformer in series with a source of low voltage direct current. An alternating E. M. F. is then produced in the secondary dependent for its frequency upon the vibrations of the diaphragm.

Such a device if connected to the grid of an oscillating vacuum tube circuit may be made to modulate the plate current radio frequency output of the tube in accordance with sound waves which cause the diaphragm to vibrate.

Specially constructed telephone transmitters or microphones are employed when operating radio telephones from airplanes. They are designed so that the noises from the engine, usually very annoying, are reduced to a minimum in the radio apparatus. One must speak directly into such a transmitter, sounds striking the diaphragm at an angle having but little effect upon it.

Another type of transmitter makes use of two condenser plates with air dielectric, the capacity being varied by the vibrations striking the diaphragm.

The early types of radio telephone transmitters which employed the oscillating arc were limited in power by the difficulty in handling large currents with the carbon transmitter. Modern radiophone transmitters employing vacuum tubes, as the source of radio frequency currents, sometimes make use of speech amplifiers which increase the current impressed on the grid of a small tube whose plate is coupled to the output of the oscillator tubes.

Some types of radiophone transmitters have the microphone connected in the aerial circuit either directly in the circuit or coupled to it by means of a special transformer where the system is called the magnetic modulator.

POLITICS BEHIND PATRONAGE PROBE

by Parker to Jack J. Spence, a unit head of the prohibition department, in which the prohibition agent was informed that unless he came across with a contribution that he would be "reported to the boss." The amount of the subscription sought was not named.

Hager Conducts Probe.

District Attorney Hager, who is conducting the investigation, is said to have been asked to sign a pledge of $50 per month to the republican education fund. He declined to place his name to any paper, it is said, but he promised to contribute a month towards defraying the expenses of state headquarters in Atlanta. Another voluntary contribution made here it is said, was by P. R. Rose, collector of internal revenue. His assessment is said to have been $800 per year for his tenure of office.

A republican official has been approached for ten per cent for their salaries for the entire period of office, according to the complaint. Ten per cent of the salaries of rural carriers in Georgia would aggregate about $100,000 per year, it was calculated Wednesday by a republican.

Will Ask Indictments.

Clarke Greer, of Augusta, who is understood to have been one of the complainants, stated Wednesday night that indictments will be sought against Chairman J. H. Phillips, Fred D. Dismuke, federal prohibition director for Georgia, and C. W. Parker.

Trying to Outwit Burglars Proves Expensive Trick

Puts Money in Trash Box and Then Forgets All About It.

A brand-new scheme to outwit burglars, snatch thieves and hold-up men has just been tried out by the Prater Cigar company and has been found so costly a luxury that the chances are that it will never be tried again. The company has suffered a loss of $100 and no one knows who has profited, and is not likely to know.

It all came about in this manner: The store manager had $100 which he was afraid would be stolen by burglars if left in the store, and if he ventured forth into the night with it he might be "stuck up" by some footpad.

After much study he concluded the safest place was to hide this sum in a trash box, for what robber would think of finding money in the refuse, should he enter the store?

When he opened the store Wednesday morning the manager threw the valuable box out with the other trash, forgetting to take out the "100 berries." And he didn't discover his mistake or loss until late Wednesday morning when he rushed post haste to inform the city constabulary.

No trace of the money nor box had been found by the city sleuths up to a late hour at night.

COMEDY SCORES AGAIN ON LAST PERFORMANCE

The comedy hit, "O, What a Night!" was given for the second and last time here at the St. Phillips chapter house last night, before a fair-sized audience, by the Variety players.

Thomas Brownlee, supported by Miss Myrtle Embury, who took the part of Grizzly Adams and the housekeeper respectively were really the stars of the evening. Their love scene in the third act was heartily enjoyed.

Harold Van Buren starred in his stellar role of Father O'Neil, a usual, and was almost perfect in his interpretation of this character.

Laddie O'Neil, in the person of William Herbert Brannan, was well executed. Gladys Speaks was good. J. Michael Dugan scored as Sheriff Bob.

The Variety players are planning to come out with a brand-new play in the near future.

MPHERSON IS TURNED INTO INFANTRY POST

With the arrival from Fort Niagara and Governor's island of the vanguard of the Twenty-second infantry, Fort McPherson again became an infantry post Wednesday, after being known as a training camp, a hospital and the temporary home of various other phases of military service since the Seventeenth infantry left for Mexico before the war.

Lieutenant Colonel W. G. Doane, commanding officer, expressed much pleasure Wednesday at the new location of the infantry.

"I am sure that when we get acquainted Atlanta will like our men," he said. "We are planning athletic teams to compete with local civilians and wish to enter Atlanta's civic life."

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL HEADS ARE RE-ELECTED

Baptists Plan Great Hospital in New Orleans

Recommendation that the Southern Baptist convention accept the offer of New Orleans citizens of a $2,000,000 hospital of the association was contained in a report made by a committee to the home mission board of the association Wednesday, at its closing session.

The board accepted the committee's report. Under the offer of New Orleans citizens erection of the structure must begin within the next two years. The land will be given to the association provided it use it for the hospital site.

Dr. Austin Crouch, pastor of the First Baptist church of Jonesboro, Ark., was elected superintendent of the building department of the association, to succeed Dr. L. G. Warren.

State Concludes Case at Murder Trial of Preacher

Charlestown, W. Va., June 14.—The state has rested its case against the Rev. James E. Wilburn, Baptist preacher charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff John Gore in the Logan county mine riots last August.

It brought its examination of 15 witnesses to an abrupt close Wednesday night and claimed to have proven that Wilburn did not actually fire the shot that killed Gore, he was equally guilty with the actual murder.

Because he gave the signal to begin firing, had the possession of certain general effects taken from Gore's clothing after the murder, and made statements before and after the killing that implicated him with the party.

The defense announced it would be ready to proceed with testimony Thursday. It will cite the generally disturbed public mind in Blair at the time of the shooting as a mitigating factor.

That Wilburn's deed was prompted by a feeling of self-confidence, and that he can therefore be tried only for manslaughter instead of first-degree murder.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT FOR QUARTERMASTERS

An address delivered by Major-General Harry L. Rogers, quartermaster-general of the army, to the anniversary quartermaster banquet at Washington, today was heard by a large audience at a banquet to be held at the Anley roof garden on Friday night, June 16, in celebration of the one hundred and forty-seventh anniversary of the quartermaster corps of the army.

The local affair is to be one of about fifty to be held simultaneously in many cities, including Paris, Colombia, Panama, Manila, Honolulu and on board the five army transports on the high seas on that date.

The Atlanta event is planned as a get-together occasion for the officers of the national guard, the organized reserves, the regular army and the business men of the city, who are interested. Governor Hardwick, Mayor Key and Adjutant-General Nantz are expected to be guests of honor.

Reservations for the dinner are being made with Captain James R. Walsh at Fort McPherson.

capital things are even more interesting. And in House! The entire membership of the lower branch comes up for election this month. A large majority of the republicans are having hot contests in the primaries. With the wave of progressive sentiment sweeping the country, and with the wholesale criticism which has been directed against the administration most of them will have hard times retaining their office. The primaries are already on in a number of states, and others will be coming from time to time. It is the time of the year—every two years—when every congressman likes to be back home on the scene, to squelch, if possible, the political ambitions of some bright-eyed opponent.

In the face of this, President Harding has made specific and forceful demands. And just at the time when house leaders planned to embark on a period of three-day recesses, which is the longest time allowed under the rules while the senate is in session, The plan was to have a day or two more fortunate brethren—those who will not have opposition—stay on the job, and every third day go through the formality of meeting and adjourning on the same procedure, practically.

Babe, Rolling Off Bed, Is Caught Between Iron Posts; Chokes to Death

Rome, Ga., June 14.—(Special).—The 9-months child of Mr. and Mrs. Posey Waldin, of this city, met an unusual death late this afternoon, when it was left alone in bed asleep, while the mother went after her two children, who had gone into a pasture to play.

The child, either accidentally or in seeking to get off the bed, rolled between two metal posts, surrounding the bed, and caught its head in such a way that it choked to death. When the mother returned, she found it dead.

A coroner's jury empaneled to-night, returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

MASSIELLO TO ADDRESS REAL ESTATE BOARD

ident's demands by staying in Washington in the face of impending politics when their presence is greatly needed to offset forces working for their defeat? Will Senator McCumber and other advocates of the bonus bill clear their names early passage of the "adjusted compensation" thereby inviting trouble? or will both houses revolt against executive commands and pursue the even tenor of their way?

Up to President. The question is also asked, what will President Harding do if his wishes are disregarded? In the house the question has already been answered by his notice to call an extra session and thereby giving his official stamp of disapproval of their actions.

But in the senate more speculation is involved. The president is opposed to the bonus bill in its present form. He believes like a number of observers that members of the senate are playing politics in attempting to sandwich it in between tariff discussions, which he thinks is more important. He is said to be of the opinion that the move is nothing but a political expedient to have the measure passed before the general election, and has pointed out that there is no necessity for hurried action, as the bill might be brought into effect before next year.

With these and other facts known, the political atmosphere of Washington is rife with speculation as to what will be the outcome.

"Will this prove to be the final break between the president and congress, a culmination of those which have gone before?" is the favorite question going the rounds tonight.

a description of a bobbed-haired angel," declared Rader, "nor one with a short skirt, either."

"And a handsome knee never kept a keen observer out of heaven," retorted Mrs. Chadwick.

"Bobbed hair, knee skirts, rouge—no congregation could think of the salvation of soul with such a chorus," thundered the evangelist. "Perhaps society at large is to blame. I'm not picking on the girls personally, but they must stand up in my choir and fust."

"A chorus is made up of voices, not legs," observed Mrs. Chadwick. "The girls have picked can sing and they are prettier with their hair bobbed; prettier even with their short skirts than they would be without them. It will do the tabernacle crowds good next Sunday to see some youth, some life and some style in the choir. That goes, too!"

So Mrs. Chadwick is going right along picking her chorus regardless.
